Went to Bulla, but That Means Nothing.

Grant Holds All His Votes and is Still Leading.

GREEN NOT PUNISHED YET.

Goes Before Bar of Assembly Before Noon Today.

Times Correspondent May Be the Next Victim.

Sensations Galore Cropping Out on Battle-ground.

WARMER TIMES ARE EXPECTED.

Everybody in California Should Be Subpoensed, as Seems Likely, the "Investigation" Will Be

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.-[Exclusive Dispatch.] Four votes changed to Bulla today on the first of two ballots had for United States Senator, and each change was the occasion of applause on the part of Bulia people. Those who changed were Senator Gillette and Assemblyman Boynton, who have beer voting for Knight, and Senator Taylor and Assemblyman La Baree, who have peen voting for Van R. Patterson.

"Corny" Pendleton said: "They," presumably the Bulla wire-pullers, had worked for a week to effect these changes," though he did not know who had brought Taylor around, unless it was Simpson. He also said Wade was expected to change from Estee.

There was an effort on the part of people unfavorable to Grant to make it appear that this change of four votes was the beginning of the end of Grant's chances for the Senatorship, and that a stampede was setting in for Bulla, but the absurdity of this statement is apparent from the fact that none of Grant's supporters have left him, while the bubble about stampede to Bulla is easily pricked by a statement to the Times representative by Assemblyman Boynton, after balloting.

When asked the question why he changed his vote, Mr. Boynton said the time had come to "bust up" the combination, and find out who was the strong man in the field. Boynton said he had not asked to be released from voting for Knight, for the latter had no strings on him, neither had anybody else. He said Knight had quit, but was still in the fight, and the impression that the Times correspondent gleaned was that Boynton was not without hope that sufficient votes might yet go to Knight to elect him.

IN BURNS'S INTEREST.

From another legislator, who may easonably be supposed to know what he is talking about, the programme of 'scattering" is learned to be a change at seemly times from Bulla to Bard, to Estee, and to other candidates until one is found that can attract votes additional to the nucleus which will be afforded by the programmers. It is suspected that the move is really engineered in the interest of Burns, and is designed to afford an excuse for the weak-kneed among Grant forces, if any there be, to leave him.

STAND WITH GRANT. A meeting of Grant supporters was held tonight. All but five of them out of the twenty-eight were present. Those who were there were very enthusiastic and they decided to stand

ith Grant absolutely.

The Burns people have been overjoyed at the turn things have taken in respect to Grant's canvass before the Legislature, and they are gloating over the disclosures which they say have been and will be made with respect to the methods of Grant's managers before the special investigating committee. Some of the more impartial of the observers, however, declare the methods of the committee to be outrageous, hearsay evidence, they declare, being admitted and invited, and leading questions conveying suggestions which are almost put in the mouths of witnesses. POSSIBLE "CONTEMPT" CASE. The arrival of The Times today with exclusive reference to an attempt to bribe a legislator to vote for Bulla, coming as it did on the heels of changes in the votes in the joint convention you've got a sensation there," remarked Melick to the Times correspondent, and he evidently thought so, for he carried a copy of the paper containing the article into the meeting of the Special Investigating Committee, and near the lose of the afternoon hearing, read a portion of it to the committee, and asked that a subpoena be served on The Times correspondent and that he be compelled to tell what he knew. The name of the legislator is held by the correspondent in confidence, and the attempt of the committee to compel its disclosure is expected to result in another complaint of contempt being presented at the bar of the House.

NEW POINTS BROUGHT OUT.

The hearing before the committee this afternoon brought out some new points. Ex-Secretary of State L. H. Brown was sworn and testified that he had discussed the Senatorial situation with Assemblymen Raw, Raub, and Mac Donald, Grant supporters, and had told them that Burns would be elected, but he denied that he had intimidated them r anybody in Burns's interests. didn't know of any meretricious influences being used.

Reporters Burke and Leavings of the Call gave testimony which led an onooker to say that it seemed to him the Call was preparing to get rid of Wright's libel suit by whitewashing him. Burke declared he knew that $1500 had been sent into Visalia county in aid of Grant, but he did not know who sent it. He was hard pressed by Attorney Bacon, who finally compelled him to admit that nobody on earth had told him $1500 had been sent into that county.

Leavings told the old story about man and wife getting transportation from San Francisco to New York through Assemblyman A. H. Merrill, who got passes from Herrin at the instance of Burns. Leavings testified that information had been brought to him that Assemblyman Cosper, now chairman of the Special Investigating Committee, had gone to Milton J. Green and said that Burns or his representative had offered Cosper $6000 to vote for Burns, but Cosper told Green he did not want to vote for Burns, he preferred to vote for Grant. If he should vote for Grant, he expected to be remunerated to the extent of an offer made to him by Burns. Chairman Cosper here in the stand and told of that alleged artempt of two Call reporters, James and Colver, to interview him on the subject at his rooms. He had pronounced the story a devilsh lie. A few days ago he met Milton J. Green, who was credited with having set the story affoat, and Green made a most emphatic denial of it. Re plying to Burnett, Cosper said he had repeatedly called at the headquarters of various Senatorial candidates, smoked their cigars and enjoyed their hospitality.

Mr. Cosper said he had heard that money was put into Boone's and Pace's districts with which part of his is connected. That is the only way he could imagine any claim could be made that money was put into his fight. Cosper was evidently uneasy at the insister with which this point was pressed. He was asked if, in his conversations with Grant's managers he had seen a list of their votes. He declared that Green had on a little slip of paper at one time a list of men who, he said, would vote for Grant

He thought half a dozen of the names purported to be the signatures of members, and that the names foifect: "We hereby pledge ourselves to vote for U. S. Grant so long as he shall have a chance for Senator." Cosper said he got the impression that there were twenty-five or more of these names.

Cosper was the first man to testify to the existence of this list, so much desired by the newspapers. Green had said these men were pledged to Grant. Cosper said that either Assemblyman Dale of J. W. Wille, an attorney of Bakersfield, had said to him: "Do you know our people (Grant's) assisted in your fight?" Numerous men had insisted that he was the only man in the Seventh District standing out against Grant. Green's and Grant's friends, he said, had not asked him to support Grant in consideration of any assistance in his fight.

WARM TIMES EXPECTED. Subpoena for Wiley was issued, and Burnett demanded that subpoenas issue for M. H. de Young, John D. Spreckels and W. H. Herrin. Melick apparently became alarmed at the prospect of a long investigation, though he said he was willing to call these parties at some future time, for he de-clared that he did not want to go out and drag-net the whole country on a mere rumor. Nevertheless the com-mittee voted against him and in favor of issuing the subpoenas, Melick giving notice of reconsideration.

Attorney Bacon made a flery objection to the methods of the committee and against putting Senatorial candidates on the stand at this time to refute charges that had not been made. He had heard a rumor that a certain gentleman who was in the Assembly had been offered $6000 for his vote, and he asked for a subpoena for C. G. Lamberson of Visalia, who was reported to have set the story going.

Cosper wanted to know if Bacon was referring to him, and the latter said the story did not refer to him. Melick again protested against sending clear to Visalia for a witness on the strength of a rumor, but Bacon got back at him in good shape by saying that he (Melick) pretended to want to get at the truth. The committee decided to issue subpoena, and warm times are looked

American Interests There Will Be Well Guarded

Lead to War.

One of Uncle Sam's Warships to Go There at Once.

German Consul Went Too Far and His Government is Expected to as Viewed from Various Points.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 .- The Navy Department has prepared orders for the cruiser Philadelphia to proceed to Samoa at once to represent the United States interests there. The Philadelphia is due at San Diego next Sunday from Acapulco. Meanwile, if any vessels more quickly available can be found, one of Dewey's fleet, for instance, it will be ordered at once to Samoa to answer the urgent appeal of the United States Consul there. The commander of the Philadelphia will act in conformity with the instruc-tions of the United States Consul so far as these instructions are in line with the treaty of Berlin, which the United States contends must be literally enforced until amended. It would take the Philadelphia about sixteen days to make the run from San Diego to Apia, toucing at Honolulu for coal.

One resource open to the Navy Department is to send the Oregon to Samoa. She left Callao on the 11th inst. and should reach Honolulu about Feb-ruary 8, where she can be intercepted with orders sent by the dispatch boat roquois, now at San Francisco. The big battleship Iowa is due at San Fran-cisco about the same date that the Oregon is due at Honolulu, so that the Pacific Coast will not be left entirely without naval force.

While the attention of the public has been of late drawn from the Samoan islands to other more important sub-jects, it appears that interesting events have been succeeding one another with rapidity in the islands. It has been realized for a long time past that there was need for modification of the terms of the triparate treaty by which we assumed joint guardian ship with England and Germany, but up to this point it has not been pos-sible to get all three of the powers to agree upon any one subject. Negotia-tions have been on foot in relation to the successsion to the Samoan throne, and it is calculated to lead to ill-feeling at least that the German officials should resort to a coup d'etat at this stage of the negotiations.

It is believed that much of the responsibility for this arbitrary action must rest upon Raffel, the German president of the Municipal Council at Apa, whose troublesome attitude Apa, whose troublesome attitude of late has led to remonstrance on the part of other powers. There has been an understanding that he was to be removed to another scene of activity and the supposition is that getting wind of this intention, he has precipitated a crisis before his government could crisis before his government reach him with orders. Auckland 1800 miles distant and this lack of communication makes the situation more perilous than it would be otherwise. The United States, Great Britain and Germany could easily reach a satisfactory solution of the crisis in Samoa if they could deal with the subject them-selves in the usual course, but there is some fear of ill-considered action the part of some of the agents of these governments in Samoa before they can receive instructions from their governments. The interest of the United States are in the hands of Lloyd W. Os-borne, in whose discretion the State Department reposes great confidence. The immediate effect of the publication in the morning papers of the news from Samoa was to bring to the State Department Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Ambassador, and Baron Speck von Sternberg, the secretary of the German embassy. Under the strict rules laid down for the government of diplomatic intercourse neither Secre-tary Hay nor the two diplomatic rep-resentatives would say anything whatever as to the nature of the conver-sations that took place between them. The deepest concern is felt by all these parties to the agreement at the outlook. The common belief is that the German representative in Samca, acting in the arbitrary manner they did. completely exceeded their instructions their own government. It is certain that they exceeded the authority with which they were clothed by the treaty of Berlin, and it is expected that the German government will unhesitatingly condemn their actions as soon as it has become officially advised of what has actually

PHILADELPHIA AT CORONADO. to Orders Received to Go to Samo Vessel's Condition Poor. [ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

DIEGO, Jan. 19.-Admiral Kautz landed this morning at Coronado from the Philadelphia and was shown the dispatch ordering his vesse to Samoa. He said no such orders had yet reached him and that if they did it was doubtful if the ship would be sen on the long voyage to Samoa, in view of her present condition, which he would make known to the department. Her sides and bottom are very foul and need cleaning and repainting badly, as the speed of the ship is reduced at least two knots thereby. If, however, the de-partment insisted on her being sent she would have to go first to the dry dock at San Francisco. "This," said he, "shows that a naval station and dry dock at San Diego would be a great benefit to the navy. Under no condition can I get away from here under a week's time for Samoa, but if we must go will leave on orders for San Fran-cise in a day or two. If another ship is selected, we will probably remain here about a week before going north." Speaking of the trip up, Admiral Kautz said the most important item of news he had learned was the great de-sire of the people of Nicaragua and Costa Rica, where he had called, for the United States to take hold of and onstruct quickly the Nicaragua Canal under government ownership. The de sire, he says, is universal and harmonious among the people and merchants of both countries.

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Up to a late hour tonight, Rear-Admiral Kautz had not received any orders to proceed with the Phila delphia to Samoa. He stated that the paint on the bottom of the flagship was very defective, peeling badly during the recent southern cruise, and leaving the plates exposed. He, therefore, believes that unless matters are extremely critical at Apia, the vesse (CONTINUED ON THIRD PAGE.)

Caffery Prevented Vote on Canal Bill.

Squabble Between Morgan and Davis the Result.

Latter Anxious to Have Peace Treaty Taken Up.

HOPE FOR CANAL BILL YET.

Senator White Thinks it May Reach Vote Today.

Wolcott's Motion to Adjourn Did All the Mischief.

Amendment After Amendment Took Up All the Time.

MR. WHITE WILL SPEAK TODAY.

Interest in Subject of Instructions on Expansion, from Legislature. Alger and Eagan-Hull Army Bill-Congressional.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 .- [Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Caffery of Louisiana, accomplished his ends again today, and prevented a vote upon the Nicaragua Canal Bill in the Senate, and tonight finds somewhat of a squab-ble on believe Senator Davis, chair-man of the Committee on Foreign Relations, and Senator Morgan, who has charge of the Nicaragua Canal Bill. which measure shall come before the Senate tomorrow. This little fuss has been brewing for two or three days. Senator Davis is anxious to get the peace treaty before the Senate, but Morgan had the right-of-way with the canal bill and stuck to his ground. Now the Committee on Foreign Relations has taken a hand, and is finding fault with Davis because he does not kick the Nic-aragua Canal Bill aside, and go ahead with the treaty.

Senator White said tonight that he did not believe this could be done, and that the Nicaragua Canal Bill would come up tomorrow, probably reaching a vote before night.

A vote would have been reached this afternoon but for the fact that Senator Wolcott, who is the society man of the Senate, arrived in the chamber late. and being in a hurry to get away for some society function tonight, moved adjournment. That motion would be carried almost any time. and it went through. It made both Senators Davis and Morgan exceedingly mad, but that did no good.

Senator Caffery today took up most of the time by offering amendment after amendment, nad talking about them. Tonight Caffery made a positive statement that he had only three or four more propositions to offer, and then he would quit. So there is hope for tomorrow.

EXPANSION INSTRUCTIONS.

White to Address the Senate Against Legislature's Right. BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 .- [Exclusive Dispatch.] In the Senate tomorrow Senator White of California will rise to a question of personal privilege, and make a speech upon the instructions which he has received from the Callfornia Legislature regarding expansion. Senator White will take the ground, which has been taken many times before in the Senate, and which has been sustained over and over again, that Legislatures have no right to instruct Senators upon questions of policy coming up for consideration by the United States Senate.

Did Legislatures have this right, Senator White will point out, Senators who are elected for six years, might e instructed one way by one Legislature this year and another way next year by a succeeding Legislature. The question in this particular case, where Senator Perkins asked for instructions for himself, and Senator White, received a copy of them, has exicted great interest in the Senate.

Dispatch.] The Washington Times tonight prints an interview with an army officer wherein the following language officer wherein the following language is used: "Gen. Eagan is not afraid of the outcome of the court-martial for he is fully aware that Secretary Alger will for the reason that the Sec retary is particeps criminis, or, as a lawyer would put it, an accessory be-fore the facts.

"Secretary Alger knew before Eagar went before the commission that he was going to assail Miles and call him partment. Of course Alger did know the exact quantity and quality of billingsgate Eagan was going to employ in his assault upon the com-manding general, but he did know that he was going far enough to violate one of the most sacred regulations of the army. I believe Adjt.-Gen. Corbin also had the same knowledge and is likewis particeps criminis, and therefore, Eagan's conviction would also mean the condemnation of both Alger and Cor-

ARMY REORGANIZATION.

New Temporary Measure Instead o the Hull Bill.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 .- [Exclusive Dispatch.] In view of the probable failure of the Hull Army Reorganiza-ton Bill, which was prepared mostly by Secretary Alger, a new temporary measure is being planned for introduc-tion in the House. There is almost no chance that the Hull bill can become a law this session, and as some temporary arrangement must be made for maintaining a standing army of about one hundred thousand men, a make shift provision to that effect will have to be rushed through.

Congress does not show a disposi tion to pass a bill which contains provisions that have been found in the past to work badly and that have played out in every standing army where they have been tried. Many such provisions are in the Hull bill. SENATE AND HOUSE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.-The Senate listened further today to discussion of the policy of expansion. Mr. Turner of Washington delivered a carefully pre-

Washington delivered a carefully prepared speech on the Vest resolution. The speech was for the most part a constitutional argument, in which Mr. Turner took issue with Senator Platt and Senator Foraker upon their recent utterances.

At the conclusion of Mr. Turner's address Mr. Foraker took some sharp exceptions to statements made in the speech, especially those referring to him personally. He explained at length the nature of his statements, declaring that he had spoken only for himself and had had no intention or desire to pose as the representative of the administration.

The Nicaragua Canal Bill was under

The Nicaragua Canal Bill was under consideration nearly three hours. After much debate a substitute presented by Mr. Morgan of Alabama, for the bond amendment offered by Mr. Allison, was adopted. It provides that the Secretary of the Treasury shall not pay out for work on the canal more than $20,000,000 during any fiscal year. Earnest efforts were made to amend the measure, in other particulars, but all failed.

Mr. Turner, in his speech, adverted to the statement of Mr. Foraker a few days ago, that it was not the purpose of the United States to retain the Philippines permanently, but he said he was forced to differ from the Ohio Senator, because he found in the treaty which had been negotiatted under the direction of the President, "evidence of such a character that it must override the epinion of the disting shed Senator from Ohio."

In conclusion, Mr. Turner said: "It treature the substance of the contractor that the contractor that the contractor that the said the was a character that it must override the epinion of the disting shed Senator from Ohio."

e character that it must override the epinion of the disting yshed Senator from Ohio."

In conclusion, Mr. Turner said: "It is well enough to hug the pleasing thought that we are a great people and that there is no responsibility that can be thrust upon us which we cannot meet and face and accept with safety. That this is true, all may well believe, else our fathers fought and wrought in vain, and we of this day are degenerate children. This is the height of quixotism, and is the reverse of the teachings of the fathers to go around in the world hunting responsibilities and courting dangers, because we are able to meet them.

"Mr. President, the American people are not lacking in the faith and courage of the fathers, which the Senator from Connecticut invokes. They have sometimes, for a brief period, lacked in the wisdom of the fathers, but in every case the aberration has been temporary. When the excitement or passion or interest which led them astray has subsided, or gone by, they have returned to that wisdom and conservatism, always tempered with faith and courage, which, like our free institutions, is the birthright they inherit from the fathers. I would, therefore, amend the invocation of the distinguished Senator, confident that it will not fall on dulled ears, and say, 'Oh, for the courage and faith and wisdom of the fathers.'"

Mr. Forakr maintained that neither he nor any other Senator had held that Congress could or would legitime.

nor any other Senator had held that ne nor any other senator had neld that Congress could or would legislate for its territories without reference to its obligations to the Constitution. Continuing his personal explanation
Mr. Foraker said: "The Senator from Washington median."

Mr. Foraker said: "The Senator from Washington made some remarks today about what I said as to the purpose of the administration. I desire to say here and now that I did not speak for anybody but myself. I desire to say what I did not imagine it would be necessary to say. I was speaking for the administration, and the chill that went up and down the backs of our friends in London was due, perhaps, to a misapprehension as to which of the Ohio Senators was speaking." (Laughter.)

Mr. Foraker then quoted from his

Mr. Foraker then quoted from his speech of several days ago, further to explain precisely what he did say.

"I know," he added. "that nobody had in mind or has in mind now what has been attributed to me."

He said that when he spoke of the actions or possible actions of the President, he spoke as one judging from the public utterances of the President, and some knowledge of his feelings and dsires with respect to the question in hand. He then quoted from his speech the statement that he did not know anybody from the President down to his humble self who had any intention or desire to retain permanent control of the Philippine Islands. "It was not," he concluded, "of a present purpose that I spoke, but rather of the absence of a purpose."

CANAL BILL TAKEN UP.

CANAL BILL TAKEN UP.

At the conclusion of Mr. Foraker's statement, consideration of the Nicaragua Canal Bill, which had been laid aside temporarily, was resumed. The pressing question was the amendment of Mr. Allison of Iowa, authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to issue bonds to raise money with which to construct the canal. Mr. Allison presented a substitute for his amendment in the form of an elaboration of his first proposition. Mr. Allison explained his amendment and urged that it be adopted as a safeguard to the interests of the United States treasury.

Mr. Morgan offered the following substitute for Mr. Allison's amendment:

"That the Secretary of the Treasury.

The amendment as amended was then adopted, 41 to 19.

The last hour of the session was occupied in discussion of several amendments offered by Mr. Caffery of Louisiana, all of which were defeated.

As there was little prospect of completing the bill today the Senate at 5:65 o'clock, on motion of Mr. Wolcott of Colorado, went into executive session and at 5:25 o'clock adjourned.

the Brown-Swanson contested election case from the Fifth Virginia District in favor of the sitting member Mr. Ransom, a Democrat, by declining to consider the case. Twenty-four Republicans joined the Democrats and Populists on this vote.

The Postoffice Appropriation Bill was then taken up. The greatest surprise of the day was the adoption of two amendments striking out of the bill the appropriation of $177,600 for special mail facilities from Kansas City to Newton Kan. This appropriation for the southern mail has been fought annually for six or seven years, but has always been retained. The increase in the appropriation for the pneumatic-tube service from $225,000 to $300,000 was knocked out by the elimination of the provision which fell under a point of order for the repeal of the law against the extension of the service. The House adjourned with a motion carried instructions to strike out the words "Newly acquired territory," in connection with an appropriation for $300,000 for mail facilities in Porto Rico, Cuba and the Philippines. Mr. Loud (Rep.) of California, in charge of the bill, explained its general provisions. It carried, he said, $105,471,638, being $247,638 more than the amount carried by the current law. Mr. Dockery spoke of the provision appropriating $300,000 for the postal service in newly-acquired territory. He suggested the propriety of defraying the expenses of the postal service in the new territory out of the receipts there. Mr. Loud agreed with the suggested the propriety of defraying the expenses of the postal service in the new territory out of the receipts there. Mr. Swanson then moyed to recommit the bill with instructions to strike out from the paragraph appropriating $300,000 for mail facilities in the territory held by military occupation, the words "newly - acquired territory" which he contended fixed the attitude of the United States toward this territory to some extent and was therefore improper until conditions had decided upon a policy. The amendment was pending when, at 5:05 p.m., the House adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.-SENATE Mr. Mills of Texas presented a joint resoultion, directing the Secretary of War to have made a survey and esti-mate of cost of a channel between Texas City and Galveston, and it was

He opposed our acquiring the Philippines, and said the noble ship of state, its chart having been torn to tatters, was now drifting whither she would on a wild and unknown sea. This dangerous position, he said, was being forced upon the people by the pretense that "Providence has cast upon us new responsibilities which we may not shirk," he could not agree, however, that this dangerous responsibility was one for the American people to assume. This country was at liberty to retain such foreign territory as it had conquered, if it so desired; but he denied that our only other recourse was to give back the conquered territory to the enemy. "If we may require it to be given to the people who inhabit it, for the purpose of independence and liberty."

This, he believed, was the proper course to pursue in the case of the Philippines.

When Mr. Turner had concluded his floor to address the Senate on the anti-course to pursue in the case of the Philippines.

When Mr. Turner had concluded his remarks, Mr. Foraker of Ohio said there were some references in Mr. Turner's speech to himself, to which he desired to take exception. Mr. Foraker said that Mr. Turner had quoted him as contending this government had her as contending this government had him as contending this government had unlimited power to acquire territory, and in the government of such terri-tory was not restricted by the Consti-

"I did not," said Mr. Foraker, say anything upon which the Senator from Washington justly could base such a statement." He then read at some length from his own speech to indicate clearly what he had said.

A bill was passed granting a site on Fort Supply military reservation to Oklahoma for an insane asylum.

The House then went into committee of the whole for consideration of the Postoffice Bill.

NAVIGATION LAWS FOR HAWAII. [ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The Senate committee on Commerce today authorized Senator Nelson to make a favora ized Senator Nelson to make a favora-ble report of the bill extending our navigation laws to Hawaii. The com-mittee amended the bill so as to make it include not only the laws relating to navigation, but also those concerning commerce and merchant seamen.

HILL COINAGE BILL. [ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Secretary Gage today appeared before the House Committee on Colnage, Weights and Measures, to explain his view of the Hill Bill to define and fix the standard of value. This is the bill with which the advocates of currency reform propose to supplement the Currency Bill of the Banking and Currency Committee. It makes the gold dollar the standard of value. Secretary Gage gave his general approval to the measure, but took strong exception to section 17, which proposes to assess one-quarter of 1 per cent tax annually upon the capital, surplus and undivided profits of national banks.

The Secretary contrasted the burdens WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Secretary

The Secretary contrasted the burdens upon which national banks labored, compared with trust companies. He explained that national banks were compalled to pay in local taxation two and one-half times as much as trust companies, and they were required to carry large reserves, which trust companies were not. He did not think it fair that this additional burden should be placed upon them.

"Section 17 would increase the taxation on national banks 50 per cent., would it not." inquired Mr. Hill.

"It would," replied the Secretary agreed that the bill was feasible and practicable, so far as the Treasury Department was concerned.

"The bill would place the country flatly on the gold standard, would it not?" asked Mr. Cooper of Texas.

"It would."

A. J. Warner, one of the leading double-standard advocates, was invited by the committee to give his views, at the suggestion of Mr. Hartman. He argued against the establishment of the single gold standard and protested against the increasing power of national banks.

MARITIME CANAL COMPANY.

ommerce Committee of the House Gives it a Hearing.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.-The Mari time Canal Company, representing the old concession for building the Nicaragua Canal, had a hearing today be fore the Commerce Committee of the House. The Maritime Company was represented by its president. Hiram Hitchcock; the president of the con-struction company, J. W. Miller, and Hitchcock: the president of the construction company, J. W. Miller, and the solicitor of the company, A. T. Mason. Prof. Haupt, one of the Nicaraguan Canal Commission, was present to discuss engineering features involved, and Hon. Warner Miller, former president of the Maritime Canal Company, was also present.

President Hitchcock took up the organization of the Cragin-Grace syndicate, and stated that his understanding was that, owing to discouragements, the syndicate had dissolved prior to the time when the contract for the concession was secured. He declared that the last concession was in violation of the rights and interests of the Maritime Company, and of the United States government. Mr. Stewart asked Mr. Hitchcock if the company had gone into this plan with a view of unloading it on the government, Mr. Hitchcock answered positively in the negative. There had never been such a purpose. The finanances of the company and the amounts of cash it had actually spent was inquired into minutely by members of the committe; also the relations between the Maritime Company and the construction company. The latter had spent something over 31,000,000 and the Maritime Company something over $1,000,000, outside of certain stock and bond transfers.

Mr. Hitchcock said if the government took up the work he believed the company could retire such shocks and bonds as were outstanding, except that held by Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

"What do you think of the Panama Canal in its effect on your canal?" Mr. Hitchcock was asked.

"Tam told by eminent engineers who have examined the subject, that it will cost $400,000,000 to complete the Panama Canal in its effect on your canal?" Mr. Hitchcock was asked.

Mr. Mason, attorney for the company, gave the legal phases, arguing that the present concession was in full force.

LARGEST MODERN WEAPON

Ordnance Department Considering Construction of an 18-inch Gun.
[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—A special to the Herald from Washington says that serious consideration is being given by the Ordnance Department of the army to request for an allotment of $65,000 to be expended in the construction of an 18-inch gun, submitted by the promoters of the Gathmann system of fir ing high explosives. If the request is granted the 18-inch gun will be the largest modern weapon ever manufac tured in this country. It will accommodate the huge Gathmann shell, which will contain about 400 pounds of high explosive. The gun is to be 400 high explosive. The gun is to be succalibres in length, a single-tube weapon and jacketed. Senator Hanna is understood to have interested himself in the Gathmann system, and explains that his interest lies in the fact that he is a member of the Naval Affairs Commit-member of the Naval Affairs Commit-tee of the Senate.

There will be a test of a 12-inch Gath-mann shell at the Sandy Hook proving grounds Thursday. The Navy Depart-ment exhaustively tested the Gath-mann system last year at the Indian Head proving grounds, and Cap O'Neil declined to adopt it. Results of tained at Sandy Hook have also bee tained at Sandy flook have also been unsatisfactory, according to official reports. It is intended to fire the shell from the proposed 18-inch gun with low pressures, so as not to disrupt the gun, and at the same time give the projectile an easy flight.

EAGAN LEGALLY SERVED.

Not Now Commissary-General

the Army-The Charges.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Gen. Eagan was served with legal notice of the ordering of a court-martial for his before the close of hours today. This notice was deliv ered by the messenger of the adjutant general in the usual course, and had the effect to relieve Gen. Eagan of his duties as commissary-general of the United States army, pending the conclusion of the court-martial. The office was placed in charge of Lieut.-Col. George B. Davis, who has been on duly there for some time as assistant to Gen. Eagan.

CHARGES AGAINST EAGAN. [ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 .- The charges and specifications in the court-mar-tial of Commissary-General Eagar tial of Commissary-General Eagan have been drafted and are now in the hands of the President. The charges are conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman, and conduct perjudicial to good order and military discipline.

Gen. Eagan was again at his office at the opening of business today. He had not been served over night with the formal order of the department to appear before the court-martial, and it was said at the department that there will be nothing like an arrest or any sensational proceedings. Gen. tial points out that the process described by him overcomes the cost and labor of composition, reduces the time nec essary to reproduce copies, and is of such a nature that the operator may be kepe in complete ignorance of the contents of the document.

This might make the process valuable in the diplomatic and secret serv ices of the government. An opaque fluid ink is used for the written documents, and a semi-fluid mixture for typework. The copy is clamped down over sensitized paper in blocks of 100 sheets, called a senso-block, and exposed to the rays. Then the sheets are developed as needed.

He says that twenty senso-blocks may be exposed around each tube simultaneously. This would make it possible to print six thousand copie a minute for each tube used. He says ten men working eight hours a day could print 7,500,000 copies, develop fix, wash and dry them.

REASON FOR SUGAR ADVANCE. Claus Spreckels Has Brought the

Rival Interests Together.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A gentleman, who is in close onnections with all the sugar interests in the United States, told the Times correspondent today that the reason for the great advance now being made in the price of sugar spares in stock exchanges is due to the fact that Claus Spreckels has succeeded in bringing the rival interests together, so there will be no further price cuting by either the Sugar Trust or by the Arbuckle concern, which recently went into the sugar-refining business in opposition to the trust. This agreement between the rival was hinted at several weeks That such an agreement actually exists today, there is not much ground for doubting.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 .- A dispatch to the Tribune from Havana says the finance commission which is examining discovered what seems to be an increase in the bonded indebtedness. The debt has been thought to consist first mortgage municipal bonds to the amount of $7,000,000, and municipal bonds to the amount of The figures today make the $3,000,000. The figures today make the apparent first mortgage indebtedness $10,000,000. An inquiry will be pursued further to determine whether this is the actual indebtedness. Witnesses will be summoned under oath, and much light is expected to be thrown on municipal transactions under the Spanish authorities. The vigor with which the inquiry is being pressed distresses the former officials.

The new council has decided that it will not enforce collections for municipal taxes prior to January 1, and that at will not employ the Spanish bank to collect taxes which are levied under the old régime. The municipality allowed the bank to collect city taxes and withhold 5 per cent. in the same way as the government taxes. A determined effort is being wade to determined the determin

The Cubans are encouraged in their opposition by the report that Collector Bliss and the military Governor have protested to Washington against the bank designated as a tax collector. Shares of the bank were lower on the stock exchange today, due to agitation.

The sanitary inspection of Havana begins tomorrow. The city is divided into 100 districts, and Cuban doctors are assigned to each district. The opeople will be forced to clean their houses, and after that a corps of plumbers will visit each district. Propositions by American Capital-ists to Control it Taking Shape. [A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.-A dispatch to the Tribune from Havana says propositions of American capitlists to con trol the Cuban tobacco production and manufactures are taking definite shape. It is not settled whether this will be in conjunction with an English syndi-cate or in opposition to it. The plan originated with some New York banks, and includes banks in Boston, Washingand includes banks in Boston, Washington and other cities. Several promoters and speculators have been working on the scheme, but they represented no capital. The present syndicate is said to be composed entirely of banks. The proposition is to obtain control of to-bacco lands in the Vuelta Abajo or Pinar del Rio district, and also of the Partido district in Havana province. These districts comprise two-thirds of the production of the island. If tobacco producing lands can be secured, the next step will be to manufacture the leaf entirely in Cubs, enabling the prices to be controlled and driving imitation Havana clgars out of the market.

Negotiations began in October by a New York banking house with the top to the Havana Cigar and Tobacco Factories (limited.) This syndicate was composed of eleven factories, including Henry Clay and Bock & Co. skeptical about all plans for controlling the production and manufacture of the Cuban leaf, because of the amount of capital needed. For this reason individual promoters have received little attention. The banks, however, have capital enough to command respect in trade circles, and it is known that some factories have received offers which are causing them to reconsider former refusals. Tobacco lands are chiefly held by small farmers, and are not owned in large areas by factories, though some of these have leased tracts for periods varying from three to five years. Tobacco buyers have claimed that the scheme of controlling production is not feasible, but capitalists are willing to attempt the experiment. The value of the product of the Vuelta Abajo and Partido districts is estimated at from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000. In the present scheme account is not taken of the Remedios district in Santa Clara or of Santiago, comprising the cheap product. The assumption is that they would follow the course of the product in the western part of the island.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.] NEW YORK, Jan. 19.-Col. J. M. B. Harvey, the head of one of the several syndicates formed to acquire railroads, lighting and other valuable properties and concessions in Cuba, has returned to this city from Havana. During his stay in the Cuban capital, Col. Harvey signed a contract purchasing the ferry which crosses the bay between Havane which crosses the bay between Havama and Regla, and the Guanabacoa Railroad, a street railway system connecting the suburbs with Havana. These two properties, Col. Harvey's syndicate has already taken possession of, and in addition, rights have been secured for constructing electric trolley roads in the streets of the city. Said Col. Harvey:

"We have bought the street lighting system of Santiago, subject to an examination by Mr. Pearson, our chief engineer. Santiago is now lighted with oil lamps, but we propose to erect an electric light plant and double the capacity of the city's lighting. We are incorporating companies to take over and work the properties we have already acquired. A company will be incorporated in New Jersey, capitalized at $5,000,000, and called the Electric Company, to operate the railroads, while the ferry will be handed over to another Jersey City corporation with a capitalization of $1,000,000. The railroads comprise a system of about fifty miles. The cars are now drawn by horses, but it is proposed to supplant the antiquated methods of street traction with electricity.

"Messrs. Martwell and Kearney, who were until recently, engineers for the Metropolitan Company, are making a survey under the direction of Mr. Pearson, and on their specifications bids will be asked for equipping the lines with electrical power and rolling stock. We hope to have the change completed in about a year."

SPUR TO OARSMEN. Talk of Sending an Eight-oared

Shell Crew to Paris.
[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 .- It is not unlikely that the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen may send this year's winning eight-oared shell crew to the ternational regatta there next year The question is causing much discussion among oarsmen, and many are en-thusiastic over the idea, thinking that it would serve to stimulate rowing in this country shoul the United States

it would serve to stimulate rowing in this country shou! the United States be represented ab. !.

Whether or not a crew shall be sent to Paris will be considered at the annual meeting of the national association, to be held at the Marlborough Hotel in, this city on Saturday night. Fred B. Fortmeyer, secretary of the organization, has received from foreign countries numerous communications bearing on the subject, all of which will be laid before the delegates of the various clubs. The meeting will be an open one so that any oarsman not a member of the association may attend and take part in the discussion, although he will have no vote. With such an incentive as a trip abroad to spur them on, the various eightoared crews would certainly rake greater efforts than ever to win the event. The Philadelphia barge crew, which has carried off the honors for the last two years, firmly believes that it will do so again. Members of this crew have tried to arrange a trip to England to take part in the Henley resentives of the United States would be more of an honor than to compete at Henley simply as the Pennsylvania barge champion eight.

In case the national association decides favorably, other crews than the Pennsylvania will have a say as to who shall make the trip. The New York clubs will put forth a valiant effort, while several New England eights are not to be thought lightly of. Baltimore, which a few years ago boasted of a championship crew, may make another try in that direction.

Another question to be decided at the coming meeting is where the next annual regatta of the association will be the coming meeting is where the next annual regatta of the association will be held. There appears to be no doubt that Boston will succeed in getting the event. The Hub oarsmen have been working hard for it. A few of the clubs, however, still favor Philadelphia, which has had it for several years.

aged the opposition to Malietoa Tanu. When the British and American Consuls were informed as to the situation they adjourned the court and locked the building. The German Consul then demanded the keys, and they were refused him. He then broke open the doors, removed the locks and replaced them with others. He afterward brought the German municipal president into the chamber and the latter went up on the balcony and shouted to the British and American marines assembled on the square. "I am the Supreme Court. I am the Chief Justice." The crowd replied with jeers and the British Consul demanded the keys of the building, which were refused.

A Scotchman named Mackie thereupon climbed on top of the building and hoisted the Samoan fag, while the British and American Consuls and a number of marines invaded the building, forced the doors open and pushed the German Consul into the street.

Then the two Consuls, formally and legally, according to the dispatch, opened the court and issued a warning against any further interference with its jurisdiction, threatening to arrest and imprison any one attempting to do so.

First Break in Contest-Cosper Get-(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.-The first break in the Senatorial daedlock occurred today, when Bulla of Los Angeles made a gain of four votes, and Barnes of San Francisco, one. The strength of neither Burns nor Grant was affected, however, the votes that Bulla and Barnes gained coming from the scatternig Republican vote. The gains were made on the first bellot taken today, there was no further change on the second, which was the last taken. There was something in the last taken. There was something in the air that seemed to promise a sensation, and it came when the name of Senator Gellette was called. Gillette has been a staunch supporter of George A. Knight, has voted for nim from the first, but today in answer to his name he said "Buila."

There was a storm of applause, which was renewed when Taylor's name was called. Taylor has steadfastly voted for Van R. Patterson, but today he voted for Buila.

Anderson led off on the roll of the Assembly by changing his vote from M. M. Estee to Barnes.

The other changes was that of Boyn-

A second and last ballot was taken, but it resulted the same as the first.

The vote on the last ballot today was Barnes: Senators Dickinson, Luchsinger, Morehouse, Assemblymen Atherton, Clough, Knights, Knowland, Lardner, Muenter, Stratton and Anderson

INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE. The committee investigating the scandals resulting from the Senatorial

The committee investigating the scandals resulting from the Senatorial situation is meeting with surprising results. The last man to be dragged into the circle of suspicion is Chairman Cosper of the committee himself. L. L. Levings of the San Francisco Call took the stand this afternoon and swore that a person, to witness unknown, had told him that Milton J. Green. Grant's manager, had said that Cosper had been to Green with the statement that Burns had offered him (Cosper) $6000 for his vote. Cosper, according to the story, had told Green that he would like to vote for Grant, but thought that Grant should pay him as much as Burns had offered.

Chairman osper followed Levings to the stand and denied that any one had offered him $6000 or any other amount for his vote, or that he had peddled it. The incident was considered closed until the last witness had been heard for the afternoon, when Walter Bacon, Grant's attorney before the committee, took the floor and stated that he had been told that a member of the As.

The witness demanded that the man to whom Cosper had, as alleged, made the statement, be brought before the committee and named C. G. Lamberson

The suppoens has been issued for Lamberson. Subpoens will tomorrow be issued for M. H. de Youns, proprieor of the San Francisco Chronicle; W. H. Herrin of the Southern Pacific law department, and John D. Spreckels, proprietor of the San Francisco Call.
Milton J. Green was to have been brought before the bar of the Assembly this morning for refusing to answer questions put to him by the committee yesterday. The Assembly chamber was packed in anticipation of the event, but the committee, at the request of Green's attorneys, have agreed to let the matter go over until tomorrow. Green will be brought before the bar of the Assembly tomorow morning at 10 o'clock. The committee of investigation has adjourned until that hour.

AFTERNOON SESSION.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—It was nearly 3 o'clock this afternoon before the Committee on Investigation resumed its inquiry into the methods being employed by Senatorial aspirants to secure votes. Ex-Secretary of State L. H. Brown was the first witness to be called to the stand. He testified that he had discussed the Senatorial situation with Assemblymen Raub. Raw and McDonald of Alameda, but had done nothing to intimidate them into voting for Dan M. Burns or any other candidate.

and McDonald of Alameda, but had done nothing to intlimidate them into voting for Dan M. Burns or any other candidate.

Hugh Burke of the Call was the next witness to be called. Burke's testimony, amounted to little. Incidentally he stated that according to his judgment the policy of the Call was to defeat both Burns and Grant. He considered that Burns supporters were doig very wrong in allowing the idea to be in the air that any person opposing Burns could not look for State patronage. When asked if he knew who was responsible for the impression that is abroad, he replied that the committee had better put Maj. Mc-Laughlin on the stand and find out. Incidentally the witness said that he had been given to understand that a man named Lamberson of Visalia had received $1500 to be used to elect members to the Legislature.

L. L. Levings was the next witness to be placed on the stand. He also is a Call reporter. He stated that he had been informed that the Southern Pacific Company had furnished passes to persons friendly to the cause of Col. Dan M. Burns, and at the instigation of Burns. Mr. Levings then recited, the story published at length in the Chronicle some weeks ago of the passes that had been furnished a friend of Assemblyman Merrill. The story is out and excited little interest. Then came Evering's story of Cosper and the $6000. When pressed to say who had told, him the story, Levings could not tell who it was, the time he heard it, whether it was night or day, whether his informant had been a man or a woman, young or old. He thought that he had been told by a man, however, but was not certain. Finally Melick demanded if Levings had not dreamed the story.

Finally Melick demanded if Levings had not dreamed the story.

The witness was not positive on the matter, but was of the opinion that the story was not a dream.

Levings was excused and Cosper given an opportunity to deny that there was anything whatever in the story.

when Cosper had done, Committeeman Melick read from an article in the Los Angeles Times, signed by S. E. Washburn, in which the charge was made that $3000 had been offered a member of the Legislature to throw his second choice vote to Bulla. Melick demanded that Washburn be called before the committee and made to say who the Assemblyman in question is. A subpoena was accordingly issued for Washburn.

PRESCOTT (Ariz.,) Jan. 13.—[Regular Correspondence] The Mining and Scientific Press gives the output of coppany at Jerome as 48,000,000 pounds for 1898, as against 31,355,025 pounds in 1897. The Copper Queen Company at Bisbee has advanced its output from 25,953,521 pounds in 1897 to 34,000,000 pounds in 1898. These two Arizona mines pro-duce one-ninth of the copper output of Capt. James McClintock of the Rough Riders was in Prescott yesterday, being the guest of Maj. Brodie. Together they left in the evening for Phoenix. Petty thieving seems to have broken out in Prescott within the past week. A hobo walked into Kelly & Stephens's store, and stole a pair of boots lined with sheepskin. He was later caught on the streets with the boots on his feet. Three coats and a "slicker" were stolen from Ed Block's place, and a rific and a quantity of clothing from the residence of R. N. Fredericks. Ten tramps have been arrested within the past day or two.

TUCSON (Ariz.,) Jan. 14.—[Regular Correspondence.] Judge R. D. Ferguson has just returned from a business trip to the Quijotoa country. Several hundred Indians and a few Mexicans and Americans, he says, are doing well this year in dry washing in the Horse Shoe Ba-icans, he says, are doing well this year in dry washing in the Horse Shoe Bassin. The district, however, is doing little or nothing, all the noted old silver mines lying idle. The Pima Indians located there raise considerable corn and wheat without resorting to irrigation. It is possible that artesian water may be developed, inasmuch as a St. Louis company, sinking a well 850 feet, found that the water rose to within 155 feet of the surface.

The city is advertising for the construction of a quarantine building to be erected on the quarantine grounds south of the city. The building is to be completed within ten days.

The annual meeting of the Tucson Electric Light and Power Company was held last Tuesday evening, and directors for the ensuing year were elected. At a meeting of the directors held immediately afterward, Dr. H. H. Philling was elected president, G. A. Thum vice-president, J. M. Ormsby secretary, S. H. Drachman treasurer, F.E. Russell superintendent. A resume of the business for the year shows that over $9000 was expended for wood, purchased principally from the Papago Indians.

New Coast and Transpacific Steam ship Lines - Military Wedding. Gold Dust from Kiondike. Game Protection.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19 .- [Exclu sive Dispatch.] George Washington Wilderman, who has been threatened with arrest for his conduct of the Mil Springs Cooperative Mining Association has a scaly reputation in San Fran-cisco, as well as in Los Angeles, the scene of his latest exploits. His record in this city dates from August, 1895 when he filed articles of incorporation for the World's Christian Cooperative Society, the aims of which were to do 'a milling business in all its branches mining business in all its branches manufacturing, agricultural, horticul tural, gardening, stock and poultry raising, buying and selling real estate and personal property, commission, wholesale and retail, fruit-growing and the care of the same, etc."

The capital stock was named at $50. 000,000, the stock to be divided into 500,000 shares valued at $100 each, and no one was to be allowed to own more than one share. He succeeded in getting a membership of 200, and then trouble began. He absorbed part of the funds in all sorts of wildcat contracts, principally in milling quartz. The remainder he was accused of spending in riotous living. This was in August, 1895, and in November of the same year, a dishwasher who had been buncoed into putting $300 into the scheme, cut his throat when he found he had been swindled. The day of the inquest, which dis-closed his sharp practices. Wilderman was arrested for embezzlement some $80 of the funds. He managed to wiggle out of the charge and was heard of again when he manipulated some schemes during the boom days of San Diego. Wilderman in his dealings always gave as seecurity his purported ownership of some 20,000 acres of land in Lower California.

MULE THAT BEAT DOGS

Packed Four Hundred Pounds Over the Ice from Dawson.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE (Wash...) Jan. 12.—[Ex-lusive Dispatch.] C. D. Patterson of clusive Dispatch.] C. D. Patterson of San Francisco, who arrived here today is known from Dawson to the Coast as the "man with the mule." Patter-son actually succeeded in driving a mule out over the ice. The mule carried 400 pounds of baggage, the nal effects of three passengers that Patterson brought out with him. claims the mule made record-breaking time. He is said to have left Dawson on December 20 and arrived at Skagway January 13.

Patterson wanted to come out from Dawson, but had no dogs. No one had ever tried a mule for rapid transit over ice fields, and they laughed at Patterson when he said he was going out with his long-eared assist-The mule was loaded down with the heavy pack, only the smallest portion of which was food for himself.

The way that mule went over the trail was wonderful. He seemed to realize that at the other end was plenty to eat, the condition he had not been acquainted with for a long time. He got along on much less feed than would be necessary for a dog team, and when it came to hill-climbing or walking a thirty-mile ridge, the dog were not in it.

QUARANTINED CATTLE.

Representative Cattlemen Will Ask for Special Legislation.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.1

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19 .- A num this State propose to ask the Legislature to enact special laws relative to the handling of quarantined cattle. Under the Federal law, no cattle can he taken out of California from below quarantine line except between the first day of November and the last day of December of each year. This is intended as a precaution against Texas

In some parts of the United States, however, special provision is made for properly dipping the cattle so as to secure their legal passage to non-in-fected districts, and the California cattlemen want a similar plan adopted here. They wish to guard against the dangers of a further dry season with a surplus of cattle. With State dips at regular places, cattle may be legally dipped in some effective wash and then permitted to cross the quarantine line to new pastures.

Alleged Partiality.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] PARIS, Jan. 19.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Senate today indulged in another somewhat noisy debate on the subject of the alleged partiality and slowness of the Court of Cassation.

The Minister of Justice, M. Le Brete, defended the court and urged the necessity of maintaining a separation between legislative and judicial pow-ers. He also said he believed that M. Beaurepaire's resignation of the presi-dency of the civil section of the Court of Cassation, was due to pique, becaus he thought that insufficient deference had been shown him. A resolution ap-proving the views of the Minister of Justice was adopted by a vote of 212

As fast as arrested the proprietors were released on $100 bond each for appearance tomorrow. The arrest of John W. Moore, president of the Board of Trade, created much astonishment and derision, as no one ever accused the board of being even friendly to bucket shops. City Attorney Browi said that the bucket shops were included in the new pool-room law recently passed. "The city's contention," said he, "will be that the operation of bucket shops is simpuly a process of wagering on the rise and fall of the market price of commodities. The players bet, so do the proprietors. Whether or not these contentions can be sustained in court remains to be seen."

HE WANTED MONEY.

Attempt to Hold Up a Grocery Woman-Suspect Arrested.

About 7 o'clock last Tuesday evening a strange young man entered a grocery store kept by a woman on West Ninth street, and demanded money of the proprietress, who was alone in the store. She replied that she had no coin to spare, but if he really was in need, she could refer him to some charitable ladies who would help him. "Damn the charitable ladies," said the fellow. "They wouldn't give me 3 cents. I want some money and am going to have it."

The impudent scoundrel advanced in a threatening manner toward the woman, who retreated toward the rear of the store, calling the name of her husbansd, who was not at home. The fellow probably was aware of this, as he did not mind the bluff, but continued his advance. The woman reached under the counter as if to pick up some weapon. An electric car came along at the same time, and as the woman was still calling for help, her would-be assallant ran out of the store where he was joined by a companion who had been watching outside, and the two disappeared in the darkness.

The matter was reported to the police, but nothing came of it until last night, when Special Officer Foster telephoned in from the Bonnie Brae district that he had a suspect in custody. Detective Goodman went out after the fellow, who gave the name of Peterson, and said he had been residing at Workman and Lazard street for two years, but failed to give references which satisfied the officers as to his integrity, so he was taken to the station and locked up while his case is being investigated.

Officer Foster found Peterson prowling around the vicinity of Fred Herr's place on Bonnie Brae street about 8 o'clock in the evening.

Detective Goodman thinks Peterson is the man who tried to hold up the grocery woman.

Organization of the Twentieth Legislature.

PHOENIX, (Ariz...) Jan. 16.—[Regular Correspondence.] Arizona's twentieth Legislature met at noon today. Of the thirix-six members Councilman Udall alone was absent. In the upper Udall alone was absent. In the upper House the two parties stand: Democrats eight. Republicans, 4; in the lower body the Democrats are also in power at the ratio of 13 to 11. There had been a rumor of a contest in the Assembly to seat three more Democrats from Maricopa county on the basis of election irregularities. Had this been done, the Bourbon majority would have been able to have overridden an executive veto. But the few suporters of the project weakened in the eleventh hour. Without opposition the following named were sworn into office by Chief Justice Street:

Morris Goldwater of Prescott, a leading merchant of the north, and a man of prior legislative experience, was chosen, president of the Council. His opponent in the caucus was Hunt of Gila. Henry F. Ashurst of Williams. Coconino county, was practically the unanimous Democratic choice for speaker of the House. Ashurst is something of a phenomenon in Arizona politics. He was elected to the Assembly two years ago, though only 22 years of age. Last November he had no opposition to reflection, the Republicans of his home county indersing his candidacy. After election he at once started a canvass for the speakership, personally visiting nearly every Assemblyman elected at his own home. Perseverance, with native ability have placed him where he is, the youngest man by far who has ever wielded the speaker's gavel.

The complimentary votes of the minority were cast in the council for J. H. Carpenter of Yuma, and in the Assembly for Chaplain Winfield Scott. Few of the Assemblymen have ever before served in legislative halls. Councilmen. Goldberg. Wright and Finley have been Assemblymen, while Carpenter, Goldwater and Hunt have before filled seats in the council chamber.

The chaplains are Revs. Weems and Hedgpeth of Phoenix, both of the Methodist Church, South. Despite the fact that at a number of the offices filled are not yet created, the Assembly elected a generous staff of clerks and assistant for the first of Clerks. J. H. Hoops of Graham assistant chief clerk. P. P. Parker of Maricopa, journal clerk: Harry Messenger of Gila, enrolling and engrossing clerk, and John Imus of Mohave sergeant-at-arms.

[London Tit-Bits:] A certain farme who is by no means noted for his resemblance to Apollo, has a son of who possesses more wit than pedigre who possesses more wit than pedigree. One day a stranger came to the farm, and, seeing the lad, asked:

"Sonny, where's your father?"
"In the pig pen." was the reply, "In the pig pen? Thanks."
And as the man moved in the direction indicated, the boy shouted:
"I say! You'll know him 'cause he's got a hat on!"

San Curo is a safe and sure cure for Rheumatism. Rheumatism is caused by acid poison in the blood. The problem with physicians for years has been how to expel these acids. It is through the kidneys and the pores that such impurities must leave the system. San Curo acts directly on the kidneys, draining out of the blood the uric acid which cause the disease. That you may judge of the value of this great discovery for yourself we will treat you free of charge, for one week. It is a sure cure and cannot fail. A three-ounce sample bottle of San Curo and a sample bottle of Cala Cactus Liniment sent free to any part of the United States on receipt of 25c to pay express charges.

The city is enjoying the services o two claimants to the office of Inspector of Street Sprinkling, owing to a dispute between the old inspector and the nev one elected by the present City Council. Both men assert that they will be entitled to the pay at the end of the month, and the Council will have to de-cide between them. Technically the new inspector has the better of the controversy, but he has been significantly told to be magnanimous.

A number of important bills have been presented in the Legislature as a been presented in the Legislature as a fresult of the work of the Council Committee on Municipal Legislation. The most important of these is a bill to clearly settle all the points in controversy in the matter of the granting of street railway franchises.

for the protection of the surrounding residences, which are practically remote from any fire station.

The proposed opening of an alley in the block bounded by Third, Fourth, Main and Spring streets promises to cause a lively contest in the Council. A vigorous protest against the alley has been filed, and attorneys have been engaged to properly present it.

In March last Isaac and Rebecca Thomas obtained a judgment for damages against David Gates for $2500. The day that judgment was entered the defendant had filed for record a deed of conveyance and transfers of all of his property. Suit was then brought to set these aside as fraudulent, and the case was set for trial yesterday, but on Wednesday Gates filed a stay-bond pending appeal. By this means the suit at bar is knocked out, the case hung up in the Supreme Court, with a probability of further litigation if the court of last resort affirms the judgment.

J. J. Harshman had a well at Compton sunk at an expense of over $800, and engaged Messrs. Walker & Shepard to sink it to a greater depth. Instead of doing that, Harshman alleges that they have utterly ruined his well, and has brought suit to recover $1500.

Yestereday divorces had right-of-way fithe several departments of the court, and five cases were dealt with during the day. The application of Mrs. Francis L. Hord was of a rather entertaining character, and was taken under advisement by Judge Clark.

Special Council Meeting.

A serious misunderstanding has arisen between George Swope and J. P. Shumway as to which of them is now the City Inspector of Street Sprinkling, and unless one of them re cedes from the position which he has taken, the City Council will be called upon to decide at the end of the month who shall draw the Inspector's salary for January services. Both men now claim the position and both declare that the other shall not be considered if it can be prevented, and an appeal to the Council to settled the matter before the end of the month is considered probable. This peculiar condition of affairs is the result of a desire on part of the Republican members of the of affairs is the result of a desire on part of the Republican members of the Council to accede to the one request made of them by the Democratic minority at the time that the subordinate officers were chosen.

The Republican members had things their own way when it came to selecting the subordinate officials, clerks, etc., and they of course proceeded to put men of their own choice in the places then held by Democrats. The filling of the places in the health department was left to the last and after the selections of the majority had been indicated, the Democratic members asked as a favor that the incumbers asked as a favor that the incumbents in that office be permitted to remain one month longer and that the new officials take their places February 1. This the Republican members agreed to do and a motion to that effect was adopted. It so happened that when the health department inspectors and others were chosen, the Inspector of Street Sprinkling was chosen at the same time. For a long time this official has had his office in the health office, but he is not properly considered a member of the health officer. His association with the office, has, however, closely identified him with it and he is generally spoken of as a member of the health department staff. When the request of the Democratic minority was granted by the Council, it was the intention to include the Inspector of Street Sprinkling, in fact, the request was partly due to a desire that no change be made in that office for at least one month. It so happened that that particular official was not included in the motion and only the health department force was mentioned collectively.

George Swope held the position under the old Council and if the motion under the old Council

City Attorney for advice and was told that if he cared to insist upon the matter there was no doubt as to his ability to secure the salary for January. Shumway was then in consultation with some of the Councilmen and by them he was told in a significant manner that while they admitted his technical rights, the matter was one manner that while they admitted his technical rights, the matter was one manner that while they admitted his technical rights, the matter was one manner that while they admitted his technical rights, the matter will probably be brought up at the next session of the Council for final settlement. In the mean time both men are doing enough of the work of the office to prevent their losing the salary on the grounds that no service was rendered.

MUNICIPAL LEGISLATION.

Important Provisions Prepared by the City Council Committee. If the Legislature adopts all the bills that have been presented at the in-stance of the Council Committee on Municipal Legislation, of which Councilman Toll is chairman, there will be removed a number of difficulties in the way of the ability of the Council to properly and economically attend to some of the most important measures that come before it. Doubts as to the that come before it. Doubts as to the legality of certain laws, ambiguity in legality of certain laws, ambiguity in others, shortcomings in still others by which the Council could not proceed as far as it pleased, and as seemed to be necessary, has at times during the past two years greatly impeded various matters which but for the laws would have been beneficial to the city generally, and directly beneficial to thousands of tax-payers.

The Council Committee on Municipal Legislation was appointed by the old Legislation was appointed by the old Council, and when the new adminis-tration came into power the committee was not recreated. The old committee tration came into power the committee was not recreated. The old committee had, however, prepared a number of measures which met with the approval of all the city officials, for there was no politics in any of them. Councilman Toll went to Sacramento soon after the organization of the new Council, and while there he had frequent consultations with members of the Los Angeles delegation and through them Angeles delegation, and through them had the bills of the committee presented.

One of the most important of these bills was that so modifying the present law governing the granting of franchises to street railways and other corporations, then of the new act is passed without too much disfigurement, all doubt as to the manner in which the Council shall proceed in such matters. all doubt as to the manner in which the Council shall proceed in such matters, will be removed. For nearly two years the Council has declined to grant such franchises owing to an alleged defect in the law, and several important extensions of the street railway systems have been prevented by that condition of affairs. The new bill provides for competition in the amount actually to be paid to the city in the sale of these franchises, and instead of a percentage payment at the end of five years, the cash must be paid upon the granting of the franchise. The details of determining what the city's share of the gross receipts after the five years have elapsed will be, are carefully prepared and all existing defects in the law are remedied.

Under the present street law the laborers who are employed by the street contractors are powerless to compel the payment of their wages except by an action in court, and this is frequently hopeless. It has often happened in this city that contractors on important work, by a successful juggling of assignments of contracts, have defrauded their men out of their wages. A new section to the present law has been presented before the Legislature, which provides that in addition to giving a bond for the faithful performance of their contracts, the contractors shall execute a bond requiring that all their employes shall be paid for their work.
Another effort is to be made to pass a law consolidating the offices of the City Tax Collector and County Tax Collector, so that the county official shall be empowered to collect the city's taxes. Such a measure was once before the Legislature, but failed of passage.

The law regulating the admission of fore the Legislature, but failed of passage.

The law regulating the admission of suburban districts to municipalities is to be so changed, if possible, as to permit of the special elections for the admission of more than one district being held on the same day instead of at separate elections, and to give the Council discretion as to whether it is advisable to admit such suburbs as apply for annexation.

Changes and improvements in the manner of listing tax-payers names on the assessment rolls and a provision for a general tax for the construction of boulevards are among the other new laws that have been suggested.

EXAMINED THE SITES.

Iwo Public Boards Look After En-

The Board of Public Works, Board of Fire Commissioners and sev eral other members of the City Council, accompanied by Chief of Fire Department Moore, spent the entire aft-ernoon yesterday in the examination of property which had been offered to the city as prospective engine-house sites.

At the last meeting of the Council final bids were received for sites in the several districts in which selections had not been made. There were twentyseven of these bids and they included property of all kinds and at almost ev ery part of their respective districts. The work of classifying these bids required nearly two days, as they had to be compared with the City Asses-sor's books to ascertain whether the descriptions of property were correct. The classified bids were turned over to the Board of Public Works late Wednesday afternoon and it took nearly Wednesday afternoon and it took nearly six hours yesterday to make the examinations of the property offered. There was but little discussion of the subject among the members, except that the advantages of this or that piece of realty over another was pointed out. This afternoon at 1:30 o'clock the two boards will meet in joint session for the purpose of making the selections which will be recommended to the Council. The party also made a careful inspection of the Aliso-street sewer and visited the First Ward, where Councilman Pierce desired to show them a street, the opening of which is to be requested by the property-owners.

SPECIAL COUNCIL MEETING.

Extension of Time Granted on

The City Council held a special session yesterday at which only five min-utes were required to transact all the business that had to be attended to. business that had to be attended to. The meeting was unexpected, none of the members receiving the regular written notices, but as nearly all of them were there the services of the notices was waived. R. H. McCray, who has the contract for the improvement of Avenue 37, between the line of the right-of-way of the Southern California Belliway Company and Jeach. health department force was mentioned collectively.

George Swope held the position under the old Council and if the motion had mentioned his position, there would have been no doubt as to his retaining his position until February 1. To succeed him as inspector, J. P. Shumway was elected. Swope at once saw the technical omission in the motion and really so far as the records of the Council show, he was the inspector and was entitled to recognition as such. To settle all doubt in the matter, however, inquiry was made at the time of some of the members of the Council and they announced that the intention had been to include that office in the motion and that that they considered Swope the inspector.

This did not exactly please Shumway, for yesterday he applied to the way between Temple and Fourth streets. The petition suggests a loca-tion near the corner of Grand avenue or Bunker Hill avenue and Second street. The reasons assigned for mak ing the request is that although the present fire department is efficient, the present fire department is efficient, the topography of the city in the vicinity mentioned is such that it is impossible for the firemen to bring their heavy apparatus up the steep hills. The only way in which the firemen can reach a fire on the hill, the petition says, is by going to Temple street, and thence to Bunker Hill avenue, and then to the fire along the top of the hill. This takes so much time that a building may be destroyed before the department reaches the fire. That has been the experience of the people residing in that section, more than once. They therefore earnestly request the establishment of an engine company where they may be protected. A VIGOROUS PROTEST.

Property Owners Who do not Want the Council to Open an Alley. A long protest was filed in the of-ce of the Clty Clerk yesterday addressed to the City Council, in which was shown the opposition of certain large owners of realty to the proposed opening of an alley in the block bounded by Third, Fourth, Main and Spring streets. The protest recites that if the alley is opened under the present plans it will "not be a thoroughfare, but a court or 'cul de sac, to be used by a few persons only;' ough: arc, but a court or 'cui de sac,' to be used by a few persons only:" that in order to open the alley it will be necessary to take private property of some persons for the private use of others, which is illegal and unconstitutional; that the expense will be heavy, and the benefits accrue only to a few persons, who should pay for the property to be taken, and not ask the Council to open the alley; that the petition for the alley was not signed by a majority of the property-owners in the block. The time for protesting against the alley will expire today, and this is the second protest that has been received. The alley in question is not intended to run through from street to street, but is to enter the block on Fourth street, run north, and then turn at right angles and run to Main street. Among the protestants are the Morgan Oyster Company, the Turn-verein Germania, and the owner of the Henne Block.

Wants a Rebate. Henry C. Bohrmann has petitioned the City Council to grant him a rebate of $2.90, which he paid as an assessor $2.50, which he paid as an assess-ment on his property on West Wash-ington street on the occasion of the widening of that thoroughfare. Through some mistake in the commissioners' map his assessment was not indicated and his property was sold under the delinquency, causing him considerable trouble to redeem it.

Appeal Against a Sewer.

Property-owners interested in the property affected by the sewer recently constructed in Cottage Place from a point 100 feet south of Ninth street to Tenth street have filed an appeal against the acts and determi-nations of the Street Superintendent in issuing his assessment warrant for the work. The reason alleged for the appeal is that the assessments were not fairy and equitably made.

AT THE COURT HOUSE,

JUDGMENT COMPLICATED

DAVID GATES BELIEVES IN POST

Judgment Evaded in March and No a Stay-bond Prevents Further Action Pending an Appeal-Possibility of Further Litigation.

It is one thing to get a judgment in court and quite another thing to col-lect it out of court. If, too, a defend-ant has a shrewd idea that a judgment the is going to be rendered against him, or if by a curious combination of circumstances a defendant's total assets should disappear just about the time judgment of court is rendered, then the plaintiff is in a rather hard fix. And this is just what has happened in the action brought by Isaac and Rebecca Thomas against David Gates.

In March of last year the Thomases had their suit against Gates pending in Department Six of the Superior in Department Six of the Superior Court, wherein they sought to recover $10,000 as damages for injuries sustained by Mrs. Rebecca Thomas at the hands of the defendant. The specific offense alleged against him was that he had thrown, a hen coop at Mrs. Thomas; that it had struck her, and she being in a very delicate condition at the time, a long series of ills followed. The trial concluded on March 19, the jury returning a verdict late at night giving the

that it had struck her, and she being in a very delicate condition at the time, a long series of ills followed. The trial concluded on March 19, the jury returning a verdict late at night giving the plaintiff 3500 as damages and 3168.05 being allowed for costs. On the next day judgment was entered. But not before Judge Allen had cut down the award. When the court is of the opinion that an excessive award has been made by a jury, the judge can either ask the jury to remit the excess amount of the Jury grant a new trial case the jury reduced the amount returned in their verdict to $2500.

The defendant then gave a stay-bond of $300 for the costs, but that didn't stay the operation of the judgment running against the defendant's property, and as he didn't pay up the $2500, an execution was, placed in the Sheriff's hands. Strange to say, from being quite a well-to-do man, David Gates had become quite a poor man, for all his property stood in somebody else's name and the Sheriff found nothing that he could attach.

Isaac and Rebecca Thomas were not going to abandon that $2500 without a fight for it, so another suit was begun against Gates and his wife to have certain deeds and transfers set asia; wife, believing that a judgment would be rendered against them in the damage suit, had conspired to so dispose of their property as to prevent any judgment against them being collected. With that intent David Gates had on March 18—the day set for the trial—make a deed conveying all of his real estate to Mary J. Gates, voluntarily and without consideration, and also made transfers to her of certain mortgages. But the conveyance and the transfers were not delivered until after the result of the trial was made known. On the night of March 19 the jury returned into the court, and on the 20th the deed of conveyance and the transfers were not delivered until after the result of the property and t unless the conveyance and transfers are set aside by the court, they will be unable to collect their judgment. By virtue of the execution a levy had been made upon all right, title and interest of David Gates, and with a release by the court such as that asked for there would be far more than enough to pay the judgment and costs. In the answer made to the suit was a denial of the allegations in usual form and a statement that much of the property conveyed and transferred was and had been the separate property of Mrs.

conveyed and transferred was and had been the separate property of Mrs. Gates, and the remainder had not been made over without consideration, but with the consideration of love and affection and the promise that Mrs. Gates would care for her husband for the remainder of his life.

The statute provides that by filing a bond for double the amount of the judgment, execution may be stayed pending appeal, and for that reason the second suit had been made necessary to collect the judgment. Yesterday was the time set for the trial of the case, but on Wednesday a stay bond, as required by the statute, was filed and yesterday the defendant, upon the case being called the statute, was filed and yesterday the defendant, upon the case being called for trial, pleaded the bond in bar of the action then in court.

It was, whatever the intent, a fence for time, but Judge York held that as the plaintiffs had been at the expense of summoning witnesses, etc., the defendant must pay $25 as costs. That being done the action passed out of court, and all the expense attending the preparation for it goes practically for nought. In the event of the Supreme Court affirming the judgment of the lower court, and Gates refusing to voluntarily satisfy the judgment suit would have to be again brought, but on the bond that has just recently been filed.

A RUINED WELL.

Well-borers at Compton Sued on s Contract.

J. J. Harshman avers that the well on his property has been ruined by E. W. Walker and J. L. Shepard, and he has begun an action against recover $1500.

The plaintiff to the suit owns certain real estate on the Temple and Gibson tract, in the Rancho San Pedro, which is included in the town of Compton. In August of last year a fine well was In August of last year a fine well was on the property which Harshman valued at $847.50, that being the actual cost of sinking it 395 feet and casing it with iron pipe. The defendants represented themselves as being experienced well-borers, and as having the necessary tools to carry on such work, and believing these representations Harshman alleges that he entered into a contract with them. He desired to have the well upon his property sunk to the depth of 700 feet, and it was agreed that the plaintiff would furnish the pipe and that if a heavy flow of water were struck the work was to be paid for according to the number of inches of flowing water.

On August the 8th the plaintiff alleges that the defendants took possession of the well, and in a very short time utterly ruined it. Its original cost was $847.50, and if it had been completed in accordance with the contract would, so Harshman avers, have been worth $1500. For this latter sum and costs the plaintiff now sues.

THE HORD DIVORCE

An Art Teacher Desired to Wing Mrs. Francis L. Hord desires to be eleased from marital allegiance to latterly Hord, and the why and where fore were told with dramatic effect yesterday by Mrs. Lewis, who is mother f the aggrieved wife.

The specific ground upon which divorce was demanded was cruelty practiced during the months of Octo er and November. It was allgeed that on one occasion the husband was s his wife's arm, and on the second ocnis wife's arm, and on the second occasion he struck her with a stick. The plaintiff also showed, however, that she had not received that considerate affection, ardent devotion and thoughtful attention which is the proper offering of the dutiful husband, but Judge Clark listened with provoking knpassiveness to this part of the testimony and reminded counsel that the question of cruelty was before the court.

It appeared from the testimony that Mrs. Hord had a decided objection to her children by a previous marriage, being spanked. Then, too, Mrs. Hord had aspirations along the line of music and dramatic art, and from being a teacher here thought she would have a wider field in which to exhibit her ability if she went to New York. Her husband thought otherwise, and that a twelve-acre ranch away out on Figueroa street just about answered every immediate purpose. Then, to cap the ueroa street just about answered every immediate purpose. Then, to cap the elimax, the mother-in-law testified with clasped hands and tremulous voice to the drinking habits of the delinquent husband. There was a graduated scale of inebriety, for in his sober moments Hord was not unfrequently sullen and morose; under the influence of beer he became jovial and quite lively and when he imbibed freely of whisky he became intolerable.

Upon one occasion, Mrs. Lewis testified, he brought a bottle of whisky home with him, and put the liquid refreshment underneath the bed. His wife took it, and hid it however, and when Hord desired a "bracer" and discovered that private reserve had been confiscated, he was very indignant. Mrs. Lewis heard the spirited conversation that took place on that occasion, and when silence was restored she proceeded to investigate, and found her daughter out on the porch clad only in her robe-de-nuit, while Hord held possession of their apartments.

On behalf of Hord it was alleged that on this occasion the wife provoked him by hurling a lamp at him, but of this Mrs. Lewis said she knew nothing.

The court appeared just a trifle surprised when counsel for the defendant announced his case as closed, without putting any witnesses on the stand. Judge Clark then stated that the evidence had been given with dra-natic power, but it did'nt strike him as being a very strong case, but he would take it under advisement.

pronounced as being essential to the efficacy of his prayers. During his lucid moments—if they could be called such—Larin said that he saw no spirits save at night time, and then, in the still watches when all was quiet, the devils came and tormented him. Judge Clark ordered the commitment of the patient to Highland. to Highland.

BOTH CASES MISSED FIRE. BOTH CASES MISSED FIRE. The applications for divorce in the cases of Gudrum Vieille against Constant Vieille, and Emma Petrie against John F. Petrie, were refused by Judge York yesterday without prejudice. All parties concerned were restaurant people, the defendant in the first case being proprietor of a restaurant and in the other a cook. A default was entered in each case, and everything went swimmingly so long as Attorney Hiatt put words into the mouths of the suffering plaintiffs, and left to them only the anwering of "Yes," or "No," as the exigencies of the case might require. Finally, the court said that if that method of examination was pursued he method of examination was pursued he would throw out such testimony. That cut both case short, for no facts were elicited that tended to show that the respective husbands had committed any statutory offense.

AN UNSECURED NOTE. Jessie de Wolfe Westenberg began suit yesterday against Will S. Fawcett et al., to recover $300, with interest, on a note executed at Whittier, in September, 1894.

MINES AND MINING.

INCREASED ACTIVITY IN ALL MIN-ING SECTIONS.

Operations in San Gabriel Canyon. Sale of the Mother Lode Claim in Arizona-Some Rare Ores-The Mineral in Oregon-Mining Notes

From all sections in the Rand minreports of increased activity in mining matters. The Johannesburg terminus of the Randsburg Railway is now a busy place, merchandise and mining supplies of all kinds arriving in greater uantity than than ever before known, and from there being hauled away by teams for distribution through the Rademacher, Garden Station and to the more remote points of the Pana-mint country and other mining camps in the southern portion of Inyo county. Nor is the activity confined to the Rand district and adjacent sections for reports received indicate a correspond-ing activity in other mining sections on the desert through San Bernardino, Riverside and San Diego counties, as also throughout Arizona. The year opens well both for quartz and place mining, and the great number of new locations being recorded go to show that the day of mining in this southwestern region has arrived, and that more development work will be done on mining properties during this present year than has been done in all previous years combined. And all this means a great increase in the trade of Los Angeles, for this city has now become the base of supplies for all the base of supplies for all mining districts in Southern California and Western Arizona—a trade which will henceforth go on steadily increasng year after year.

CONDITIONS NORTH.

Reports from the northern portion of the State are equally assuring. The San Francisco Chronicle reports that the snow is piling up on the mounthe snow is piling up on the mountain ranges and that, as a consequence, the miners are happy. There is enough snow already stored on the summer, to assure water far into next summer, with prospecs of more to come. The snow sheet is well down in the foothills of many of the northern counties and the creeks are rising, everywhere through the mineral belt of that portion of the State, thereby enabling mines and mills to resume operations without and mills to resume operations without danger of further suspension.

SAN GABRIEL CANYON. The late rains have permitted sumption of mining operations in the San Gabriel Cafion, Los Angeles county. The finding of several goodcounty. The finding of several goodsized nuggets have lately beeen reported, some of them running in value from $30 to over $60. Some of these nuggets were found a long way above bedrock, which fact would indicate that when bedrock is reached more valuable ones and in greater quantity will be found. If the cañon could be sluiced in a big way the chances are it would yield lots of gold.

A PROMISING LEDGE. A late report received from Azusa, Los Angeles county, states that a merchant of that place has just received the returns from an assay of a piece of "float" ore found on a claim in that locality. The returns gave $3.50 in gold and $2 in silver per ton, a very good showing for float ore.

THE MOTHER LODE, ARIZONA. The Arizona Republican reports the sale of the Mother Lode group of mines situated in the Weaver district, Arizona, to ex-Gov. E. M. McIntyre of Colorado. The properties are not developed but are reported to have a fine surface showing, indicative of good bodies of ore below. Gov. McIntyre, who is credited with knowing a mine when he sees it, is said to have made a very critical examination of the properties before purchasing them, and satisfied himself that it was safe to invest in them. The intention is to erect a mill just as soon as the properties are sufficiently developed to have use for one.

THE LADY BUG MINE.

The Mojave County Miner reports situated in the Weaver district, Ari

THE LADY BUG MINE.

The Mojave County Miner reports that a party of Los Angeles miners have formed a mining partnership under the name of Watson & Co., and are working the Lady Bug mine, at Mineral Park. They have put in 400 feet of track in the tunnel and now have 130 feet of stoping ground opened up. The ore

Speaking of the purchase lately made by the Portland Company of the Morse group of mines, the Mining Investor says: "Although no figures would be says: "Although no figures would be given out directly at the Portland offices, it is learned on good authority that the purchase price for the four claims was $225,000, of which the first installment, amounting to $60,000, was paid yesterday, and the balance will be pais in installments covering a period of nine months. The Portland compansals o declared the regular monthly dividend of 2 cents per share, or a total of $60,000." This makes $1,897,080 paid in dividends by the Portland.

SOME RARE ORES

The Santa Ana Blade reports that superintendent Hyatt has received a andsome specimen of asbestos from a handsome specimen of asbestos from a property in the San Jacinto Mountains. There is said to be a large deposit of this valuable mineral where this specimen came from, but the road to it is a difficult one to travel except on mule back. Another rare specimen received by Mr. Hyatt is a piece of stibnite, a sulphate of antimony. This latter was found in the Temescal range, not far from Corona. It is considered a, very rare ore, and is believed to be the only deposit in Southern California. SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA MINERS'

The Los Angeles Mining Review is oublishing some correspondence from ocal mining men, in which the creation of a Southern California Miners' Association is suggested and recommended. One reason assigned for the establishment of such an organization is that at the late State Miners' convention in San Francisco not one county in Southern California was represented. The fact that this southern part of the State is fast moving into place as one of the is fast moving into place as one of the great gold-producing sections of California would seem to suggest that such an organization as is proposed in the Mining Review would be desirable, and of benefit.

THE MINERAL, OREGON.

After six years of idleness, remarks he Portland Oregonian, Mineral, in the Portland Oregonian, Mineral, in Baker county, is coming to the front again as a great producing camp. The old workings, where reopened, and all the drifts are showing up fine ore bodies. The Black Maria and Black Hawk are showing up from two to four feet of seventy-five-ounce ore; and there is enough ore in sight to keep the smelter running for many months. There are 300 tons of ore in the smelter now, but through lack of coke, wrok was closed down for the present.

RAN FROM A WHISTLE. ould-be Burglar Who Didn't

The coolness and presence of mind of Mrs. John D. Foster prevented a successful raid on her home, No. 313 West Twenty-eighth street, by a burglar yesterday morning. She was awakened about 2 o'clock yesterday morning by the sound of some one trymorning by the sound of some one trying to force open a window or a screen. After listening to the man at work for some time, she awakened her husband who has ben confined to his home by illness for several days. The noise continued, and, becoming salsfied that a thief was trying to break into the house or was already within, Mrs. Foster stepped out on an upstairs porch and sounded a police whistle. She heard the would-be burglar run across the yard and soale a whistle. She heard the would-be burglar run across the yard and scale a hedge, but could not see enough of him to give a description of him. Mounted Officer White and Patrolman Briest responded to the signal sounded by Mrs. Foster, and assisted by her the policemen made an examination of the premises. but beyond discovering footprints in the soft ground, they found nothing.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

[The Times freely publishes the views of correspondents on timely topics, without holding itself responsible for opinions thus expressed. Letters should be brief, plainly written, clear in statement and properly vouched for. No attention is paid to anonymous contributions. Free Vaccination

VOX. Los Angeles: In regard to the vaccination of children of the poor, President Davis of the Board of Education, says as a matter of economy we want to discourage free vaccination, as money is scarce. Now, sir, Mr. Davis was president of the last Board of Education, but did not think money was too scarce to allow the Superintendent of Buildings and driver of sunply wagon to do politics by attending the convention five days, without any pretense of attending to their duties, the full amount of their salaries for that month. Mr. Davis ought to be consistent. That $30 odd would vaccinate a good many poor children, and would be of more public service than sending a member of the board to Sacramento.

THE NICABAGUA CANAL.

To those on the inside, or who have made a close study of the subject, it has been known for years that the transcontinental railroads are utterly Tehachepi, from San Francisco to Los opposed to the building of the Nicaragua Canal, either by the United States government or in any other way. Those who entertain any doubt on this subject might have easily been convinced by the "coarse and brutal" declaration of Collis P. Huntington, a year or two ago, to the effect that he did not see any necessity whatever for the construction of the canal. Even Huntington has some good points, one of which is that he is accustomed to speak out with brutal frankness in regard to his opinions, where other more timid, but equally greedy and selfish railroad "magnets," use diplomacy and deception, and beat about bush. Any remaining doubt that may have existed on this subject in the public mind has, however, been removed by the determined and systematic opposition of the big railroads which has developed at Washington since the canal proposition came to the front for important action.

Public opinion on the Pacific Coast is so practically unanimous in regard the desirability of the construction of the canal by the United States government, that it is something of a curiosity to find any citizen not mittee, has received a letter from Sen-known to be in the employ of the ator Morgan, in which he expresses railroad company taking the other the belief that the bill will pass the In THE TIMES of Senate, and that delegates from Southyesterday, a well-known merchant of ern California could help the committhis city, E. The mining industry has shown a vonderful development in Southern California during the past year, and this development promises to continue indefinitely. The growth of this industry has been so rapid that few persons have a just conception of its extent. ### The Dlayhouses

THE BURBANK. Nance O'Neil and her managers have gone digging for plays into the archives of old-fash-loned melodrama, and have found Danioned melodrama, and have found Daniel Terry's dramatization of Scott's "Guy Mannering." It was produced last night for the first time in Los Angeles, and it would be well for the credit of the company if it were the last. In the book "Guy Mannering" is a delightful old romance written in Sir Walter Scott's most interesting style. If it is improbable and stilte according to modern ideas, all sense of incongruity melts away under the magic touch of the Wizard of the North, and only the charm of the story

In the dramatization the charm van shes. The playwright has taken many liberties with the plot of the story and for stage effects has intensified the melodrama, leaving out the soft touches. The attempt at a lov is clumsy and stilted, and the story is clumsy and stilted, and the whole piece drags drearily.

Meg Merrillies is, of course, the starpart, and Nance O'Neil piles on the agony with melodramatic gestures and hoarse ravings. Scott would turn in his grave to see his weird old gypsy depicted in such stagy and startling fashion. H. A. Weaver is amusing as the quaint old pedant Dommine Sampson, and Herbert Carr plays the bluff farmer, Dandie Dinmont, with much gusto and a wonderfully constructed Scotch accent. DELUSIVE MYSTERY SAID TO HAVE BEEN TRICKERY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 19.—The Press today publishes an article covering over a page, giving the details of an inves-tigation made by that paper of the dismantled workshop of the late John W. The statements in the article, which are substantiated by signed statements from above named scientists, are to the effect that tubing was found concealed in the brick work and under the floor of the laboratory. This, it is claimed, laid bare the possibilities of deception as the tubing is of the kind calculated to stand high pressure, and could have been used in connection with the great as the tubing is of the kind calculated to stand high pressure, and could have been used in connection with the great steel sphere last week in the laboratory, which, the experts intimate, was used as a reservoir for compressed air or compressed gases, the tubing forming an agency for the forces that moved the motor in the exhibition room.

The contention of Mr. Keely and his friends for many years has been that no tubing of any kind was needed to work this machine. The views of Mr. Hering and Dr. Goodspeed are that the presence of the tubing and sphere indicates the use of normal forces and possible deception on the part of Keely. In this view Clarence Moore concurs, and Prof. Wilmer feels that the possibility of trickery confirms the diagnosis that most physicologists make as to the delusive character of the Keely mystery.

Review of Conditions and Prospec

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.] NEW YORK, Jan. 19.-In its review disputed authority on the iron trade

"The iron markets are in an extraor-dinary condition. A constantly grow-ing number of makers in many lines have either withdrawn prices altogether or made high quotations in order to turn away buyers. Still, thus far, there has been little speculation, and the in-dustry is kept well in hand. Thus it is virtually decided that prices for Lake Ressemer ore will not be advanced dustry is kept well in hand. Thus it is virtually decided that prices for Lake Bessemer ore will not be advanced more than 20 cents a ton, if, indeed, so large an advance be made. Ir pig iron we note sales of about twenty-five thousand tons of Bessemer in the Pittsburgh district at full prices, and some transactions in basic pig in the East. So far as foundry iron throughout the country is concerned, the buyers are picking up what they can. Foreign inquiry is heavy and some early deliveries cannot be made. Ocean freights have eased up considerably. The feeling that there is danger of a pronounced scarcity of pig iron is gaining, but it should be understood clearly that it is likely to be only temporary unless the demand goes far beyond the present rate of output. The consolidation of Norfolk and Western furnaces plants in Virginia, under the Virginia Iron, Coal and Soke Company, is now practically assured, and will put life into capacity there long idle. A few furnaces are getting ready in eastern Pennsylvania. In Alabama and Tennesses there is some chance of extension. There are a few available furnaces in the Shenango Valley and one at Buffalo. Finally, toward summer, we may expect the large plants at Lorraria and at Youngston to fall into line. Some business had been done in steel billets in the West and the East at higher prices.

"In no department is the scarcity more pronounced than in plates. Our Chicago correspondent reports that the local mill has taken orders aggregating 10,000 tons, of which 7700 tons were for shipbuilding.

"The demand for structural material is developing. Large bridge orders have been placed, and now, too, requirements for buildings are coming in. Good-sized amounts have been taken in Chicago and New York, and some very liberal season contracts have been Chicago and New York, and some very iberal season contracts have been closed in beams, with architectural iron cosed in beams, with architectural fron works.

"One of the few industries which is still in the dumps is the cast-iron-pipe trade. Only lately a lot of about six thousand tons for Philadelphia was placed at a very low figure, and current small lots are being taken at unremunerative prices. We understand that the consolidation in this branch, which is to be financed by Poor & Greenough of this city, is making satisfactory progress. Another large banking house is working in the steel pipe consolidation to take in the great mills at Pittsburgh and elsewhere. The boom in the metal market continues, copper, lead and spelter, all having scored a notable change."

CONSOLIDATION RUMORS. (ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.)

CLEVELAND (0.,) Jan, 19.—The Iron Trade Review this week says: "Consolidation rumors are still rife in the iron trade, but there has been somewhat, of a pause in the past week, to permit actual developments to overtake the programmes industriously evolved in print. Another movement, in which promoters of the tin-plate consolidation have a hand, is now under way, looking to the consolidation of central western steel plants.

"From the Bellaire Steel Company, the Ohio Steel Company and the King, Gilbert & Warner Company and the King, Gilbert & Warner Company we have advices from each company stating that the report that its property or stock has been sold to any company is untrue."

The paper says that the American Tin Plate Company now has 279 tin mills, of which it is probable that 260 will be operated steadily.

LARGE LAND DEALS.

OPTIONS AND BONDS ON PROSPEC TIVE DEPOT SITES.

Two Large Tracts Held for Possible Railroad Use, but No Final Pur chase Made by Eastern or Utal

An option taken on a large tract of land on the east bank of the Los Angeles River and the bonding of another tract on the west bank and in the heart of the city strengthens the belief that a great railroad project is being ught to a head in Los Angeles. The first option includes 181 acres be ending from the Terminal tracks bac o the bluff. The several lots are: G.

to the bluff. The several lots are: G. W. Frink's 10 acres, Russell, Plater & Black's 23 acres, Workman & Burke's 11 acres, A. Jacoby's 27 acres, J. Regan's 20 acres, W. H. Workman's 60 acres and Mrs. Hollenbeck's 30 acres.

It has been stated that the tract has been bought by the Utah and Pacific for a depot site, but the fact seems to be that an option has been secured by the Terminal people in order that they may be able to offer needed facilities to any transcontinental line that may desire to make a deal for their road. The tract is so situated as to be available for freight vards and depots, and able for freight yards and depots, and able for freight yarus and its large enough to accommodate a very busy road.

The bonded property referred to is the block between Ninth and Tenth. The bonded property referred to is the block between Ninth and Tenth. Main and Los Angeles streets, upon which the hotel foundation was built. The bond is for $160,000 and runs for ninety days. It is reported also that a right-of-way from this tract to the river has been bonded for nearly as much. While this tract seems suitable for a passenger depot, and the rumor is that it has been bonded for that purpose, it is probable that no railroad is interested yet in the deal and that somebody has taken the bond on speculation and in the hope of interesting one of the roads supposed to be heading this way.

of the roads supposed to be heading this way.

All these moves inticate that the prospects of this city's growth, under the stimulus of the harbor work, are so good that railroad men are looking for terminal facilities and real estate agents are keenly alive to the opportunities for speculation. The railroads are coming and Los Angeles is getting ready for them.

EMPEROR IN A STUDIO.

Kaiser Views Magnussen's Statue of Frederick the Great.
[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

BERLIN, Jan. 19.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Yesterday Emperor William and Empress Augusta Victoria visited the studio of Sculptor Herr Magnussen to see the statue of Frederick the Great, which the painter Adolph Menzel has recently highly praised to the Emperor, advising him to see it. On entering the studio the Kaiser Zughingly reminded the sculptor that he himself sat as a model for him when the Dowager Empress Frederick took her two eldest children to the studio of Magnussen's father, who was also an artist. After a long time in silence, the Emperor said:

"That must go into the death chamber at Sans Souch." A moment later he remarked: "The mastery of the soul over the failing body is very striking. He looks as though he wanted to lift himself up again and speak." After studying a bust of the late Prince Bismarck, modeled just before his death, he pronounced the likeness remarkable, saying: "Hundreds will stand before it and say Bismarck never looked like that; and yet—well, it is only for connoisseurs."

In the course of the conversation he

At the end of the nineteenth ballot, which was taken yesterday, the malodorous Burns stood just where he stood when the first real test of strength was made. Out of a total of eighty-four Republican votes he was able to command only twenty-six (only twenty-three actually voted.) and this contingent was chiefly made up of San Franciscans whose associations are of such a character that they might naturally be expected to side with corruption and political depravity.

[See blacklist in another column—Ed. Times.]

There is no prospect that the blacklist will be materially added to, or that it will ever include the name of a decent, self-respecting Republican. Reenforcement is impossible, because it is now understood that any accession would represent an outright bargain sale. The Legislator who goes to Burns at this stage of the game stamps himself as purchasable, and he will be löcked upon as a bought man. No explanation would suffice to remove this impression. There would be no more chance of him clearing himself from the imputation of corruption than there would be for a murderer, caught redhanded in the act, to prove an allib.

Why Boss Burns, who, whatever his faults may be, is no political fool, should remain in the contest in the face of such a prospect it would be hard to tell. Perhaps his experience has made him contemptuous of the force of public opinion, and he really believes that there are plenty of men as indifferent to it as he is. But the writhings of Wright and Jilson show that he is mistaken. These men thought they might safely defy outraged decency, but their squirmings and twistings show that he is mistaken. These men thought they might safely defy outraged decency, but their squirmings and twistings show that he is mistaken and the farm of these renegates under the flaying they are receiving will hardly desire to be subjected to a similar review of their carriers.

Gov. Roosevelt's Decision

Gov. Roosevelt's Decision.

ALBANY (N. Y.) Jan. 19.—Gov. Roosevelt has stated that he refused to grant an application for restoration to citizenship of a man who served out his term in prison for connection with the Gravesend election frauds of John Y. McKane. The Governor would not state the name of the applicant, but said he did not think a man convicted of crimes against the ballot should be restored to citizenship for some years after he had served out his term of imprisonment.

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS.

Last evening at Fitzgerald Music Hall. Miss Elizabeth Carrick made her initial appearance here in a song recital, and a programme choice in make-up was cordially received by an appreciative audience. Miss Miriam Barnes, plane, Paul Jennison, icelle Barnes, piano; Paul Jennison, 'cello, and Miss Blanche Rogers, accompanist, assisted. Miss Carrick's voice is a feedble mezzo soprano of considerable range and agreeable quality, which in the latter part of the evening she showed she has well in hand. In the first group of songs she was nervous to such a degree that she was not able to at all do herself or her method justice. In Mendelssohn's delicious "Cradle Song," however, Miss Carrick was more herself, and in Schubert's "Good Night," Brahms's triumphant "Like a Blossoming Lilac," and from that on, her tone production, intelligence of conception, and technical excellence were much more favorably in évidence. Her pitch is accurate, her mezza voce charming, but the suddenness with which she takes it from the full free tone is open to criticism.

Miss Barnes was not up to her standard last evening. She, too, seemed nervous, her execution was not as clean as usual, and her phrasing was blurred by misuse of the pedal.

Mr. Jennison's 'cello numbers were a very marked addition to the evening's enjoyment. In both the "Kol Nidrel" of Bruch, and Popper's whimsical "Farantelle" Mr. Jennison displayed sterling musicianship, and proved himself a superior technician. His playing shows artisto care and sheerity throughout. Miss Roger's accompaniments last night were all that could be desired, and she again evidenced her marked talent for that very exacting art. [The society columns of the Sunday Times are closed at 6 p.m. on Saturday.] One of the smartest lunche year was that given by Mis Oliver P Posey yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock at her handsome and hospitable residence on the corner of Figueroa and Adams street. It was a "violet" lunch-eon, and the decorations were sugges-tive of the name. Long scarfs of violet-colored tulle, caught high above the chandeliers in the center, were brought to the four corners of the room, where they were twined with smilax and arranged as a frieze about the walls. Royal purple satin ribbon and ropes of smilax were festooned from the chan-deliers to the corners, falling in graceful loops and ends. Over the window curtains and doors and archways fell sprays of smilax, and French bows of purple ribbon and tulle were fastened here and there about the walls. The table decorations were exquisite. In the center of the table was a long scarf of royal purple silk, over which were placed handsome centerpieces of scarf of royal purple silk, over which were placed handsome centerpleces of Battenburg lace. On a round mirror rested a violet-coyered basket filled with California violets, hyacinth and maidenhair ferns. At each place was a cluster of long-stemmed violets, loosely tied with ribbons and carelessly laid over the table were graceful bows of broad satin ribbons of royal purple and lavender. The place cards were dainty Parisian figures, brought from abroad by the hostess last summer. Individual Battenburg lace pleces, silver trays and cut glasses were at each plate. The handsome decorations, combined with the richness of the silver and cut-glass, formed a beautiful picture. Daylight was banished and the lights were subdued with violet-shaded chandeliers. Following luncheon the guests were extertained with a guessing contest, each person guessing the number of violets contained in her bouquet. Mrs. A. H. Naftzgar was the lucky individual and was awarded a silver souvenir spoon. Those present were Mmes. Willard, Stimson, Howard, M. Sale, Loren D. Sale, E. P. Clark, W. F. Botsford, A. H. Naftzgar, John T. Jones, Ira O. Smith, C. N. Sterry, Josephine M. Butler, Margaret Hughes, Fannle Shoemaker, William S. Hook, S. A. Van Gieson.

Miss Susie M. Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Phillips, and Charles O. Hutchins, were married Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents on South Olive screet. Rev. R. S. Cantine, D.D., pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiating. The bridal party stood beneath a bower of smilax and pink carnations, and the rooms were handsomely decorated with carnations, smilax and roses, the color scheme being carried out in pink, white and green. The bride wore a gown of delicate blue cloth, trimmed with lace and white satin ribbons. An elaborate supper followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Hutchins will reside at No. 350 South Olive street, and will be at home to friends after February 15. The ceremony was witnessed by the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Paine, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stephens, Mmes. James Grant, Murphy, Alexander, Hilton, Fezender, McBlair, Aldrich, Evans; Misses Josephine Steele, Jessie Steele, Susy Charles. Messrs. Clarence Aldrich, Stephen Welch, Wallace White, Charles Leady, Charles Reed, B. McGaffin, Charles Phillips, Robert Lawrence.

A trolley party was given Wednesday evening by W. J. Trask to several guests of the Westminster Hotel. The party started on the 7:30 car, reaching Santa Monica an hour later. Refreshments were served at Eckert & Hopf's, after which the guests indulged in dancing. The party was composed of Judge and Mrs. L. B. Stearns of Portland, Or.; Mrs. F. O. Johnson, Mrs. M. J. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Fogg, Miss Carrie Fogg, F. M. Fogg of St. Paul; the Misses Emizabeth Hearn, Mary Hearn of New York City, Miss M. Reid, Miss Estelle Johnson of Galesburg, Ill.; Mrs. C. F. Briggs of Portland Or.; Messrs, G. S. Dyer, T. F. Woolwine, C. A. Miller, L. H. Chase.

Miller, L. H. Chase.

Mrs. B. Baruch of No. 1407 South Figueroa street gave a charming whist party yesterday afternoon, complimentary to Mrs. M. Weller and her daughter. Miss Weller of New York City. The house was effectively decorated with wreathes of smilax, palm leaves, roses, poinsettias, and in a tiny alcove, half hidden with palms and ferns, was a miniature mission building, with its gray walls and towers softly lighted from within with sunset glows. An innovation in the nature of decorations was introduced by suspending wreathes of smilax with threads of green about the delicatelytined walls. An elaborate luncheon followed the games, for which Christopher & Sparks catered. Music was furnished during the afternoon by Wismer's Orchestra. Prizes were awarded the winners.

An "Old Maid Auction" was given yesterday evening at the home of Miss Ethel Mullins of Ellendale Place. The young ladies were gowned old-fashioned and wore false faces. They were auctioned off to the highest bidders among the young men. It was a jolly party and was greatly enjoyed by all present. Following the auction refreshments were served and the festivities of the evening concluded with dancing. Those present were Misses Klokke, Bean, Anna Bean, Houston Bishop, Woodard. Kirkpatrick, Mullins, Anna Mullins; Messrs. Karl Klokke, Alnsworth of Redondo, Roland Bishop, J. G. Easton, Gay Lewis, Ed Salisbury, McGee, Clay Gooding.

ONE HUNDRED BUSINESS MEN FEAST AT THE WESTMINSTER.

First Annual Banquet of the Mer chants' and Manufacturers' As-

MEN OF AFFAIRS TALK OF CALL

Present Prosperity and Future Dewho Know What They are Talking About.

One hundred representative business men of Los Angeles, members of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Associaton and their guests, assembled at the Westminster Hotel last evening to the Westminster Hotel last evening to attend the first annual banquet of that organization. They represented nearly every branch of industry in the city, and with business cares laid aside, they ate, drank and were merry.

After partaking of a bountiful feast they discussed in toasts the President of the United States, the State of California, the city of Los Angeles, and various other subjects.

various other subjects.

The members of the association and their friends began to assemble in the parlors of the hotel shortly after 8 o'clock. They were entertained with music by J. Fred Schmeiser's Orchestery of the state o tra for nearly an hour, when they marched down to the banquet room, the hotel dining-room, while the mu-sicians played "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

The banquet hall and tables were decorated in green, white, pink and red; smilax, ferns and carnations being used profusely.

Sprays of smilax and ferns, interspersed with various colored carnations were spread along the center of the table, which was arranged in the form of a U. Large bouquets of carnations and ferns were set at intervals around the table, and were alternately arranged with stacks of long-stemmed clay pipes, joined with, bows of red, white and blue ribbon. On the pipes were tied cards bearing various mottoes, among them being: "United We Stand," "Divided We Fall," "Eat, Smoke and be Merry," and "We Smoke the Pipe of Peace."

Letters of regret at not being able

Letters of regret at not being able to attend were read from Secretary of the Treasury Gage, Senator George C. Perkins, Senator Stephen M. White, Mad.-Gen. Nelson A. Miles, Gov. Henry T. Gage and James D. Phelan, Mayor of San Francisco. F. M. Dorman, president of the Merchants' Association of San Francisco sent his regrets by telegram. The guests of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' essociation where

"As loyal citizens of the greatest republic in the history of the world, the Chief Executive of our nation, the commander-in-chief of our army and navy has, by right, an exalted place in our minds, and when the occupant of the Presidential chair, by his devotion to duty, by his unquestioned integrity and by his earnest endeavor to carry out the will of the people, has demonstrated his fitness to occupy the chair, crowned by the halos of Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln, no chair, crowned by the halos of Wash-ington, Jefferson and Lincoln, no higher duty—no greater pleasure should be ours than to commend him with patriotic zeal. I ask you again to fill your glasses and drink to the health, happiness and long life of the President of the United States, and we will ask Hon. J. R. Matthews for a response."

THE PRESIDENT.

In responding to the toast, "The President of the United States" Post-master John R. Mathews said: "I will President of the United States" Postmaster John R. Mathews said: "I will liken the President to that mythological god holding up the heavens and commonly pictured to us as Atlas supporting the world, for, in fact, the greatness of our country has become such that today it would not be inapporpriate to substitute for Atlas the President of the United States with the world upon his shoulders. If this be a country 'of the people and for the people, then truly it is the people who rule the country, and while the Congress of the United States speaks for the people, the President is the pulse through which their voices pulsate, and as he speaks, so stands or falls the nation, and perhaps no petition has a more respectful consideration by the President than that of the merchants and manufacturers of the United States for they represent all classes that go to make up this great and glorious nation, which today has no equal upon the face of the earth.

"While political differences and management of the nation's affairs will always be a subject for discussion, let it ever be said to the glory of this country, that its people never failed to uphold the honor of the nation by proving their loyalty to their President, as was evidenced by the late foreign war. And, again, let it be said to the praise of every President that not one has proven a traitor in the defense of his country. The Hon. William McKinley is today the President of the United States, with no North, no South, no East, no West. He is yours, he is mine, and to whom we will ever give our loyal support, ever strengthen his honorable position by that loyalty that only a united people can give."

"SECERTARY OF COMMERCE."

J. S. Bauson, president of the Chamber of Commerce, responded to the liken the President to that mytholog-

said:
"This 'Secretary of Commerce to be' is as yet an unknown deity, and I will not undertake ignorantly to worship or denounce him. I take it, however, that in assigning me this duty the subject of American commerce and the necessity of a Cabinet officer to represent it were in your mind.
"By the Constitution of the United States our government has power over commerce to regulate the trade of its citizens with foreign countries, and we have arrived at a time and a condition when our government must exert itself to the utmost activity by investigating the needs of other lands through its consuls and other foreign agents and the needs of other lands through its consuls and other foreign agents and appointees.

"Governments, however, are powerless to make a people prosperous or a commerce profitable. It may greatly aid, but cannot create. The individual man under our government is the unit of success, and the character of the merchants and manufacturers of a locality or a nation will determine in the end the position they will hold in the contest for commercial or financial supremacy.

"Great national events are transpiring and unfolding new victors of a rote." "Great national events are transpir-

"Great national events are transpiring and unfolding new vistas of enticing promise to the enterprising business man of the Facific Coast, and new pathways of business opened wherein they may walk to great success for themselves and country. New corresponding duties toward commerce are thrust upon our government. Let us all, government and people, join hand in hand and stand shoulder to shoulder in the work of prospering our own land and blessing the people of other lands by our commerce.

"But these great results are not to be attained by few years of labor or spasmodic efforts of the people. It is the toil of years—it is the endurance of trials and the hardiness to meet obstacles and often to withstand temporary defeat. The penalties and cost of success in these matters are the same as in any other calling or pursuit, nights and days of unceasing, wearying work.

"THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA."

In responding to this toast, W. C. Patterson, after touching upon the area, scenery and climate, said:

most prolific fruit-producing State in

It was nearly 11 o'clock when Fred L. Baker rose to introduce the toastmaster. He said: "As your retiring president I have had the pleasure to preside at this, the first annual banquet will be made a permanent feature of each year's history of the organization. It is my pleasure to introduce twill be made a permanent feature of each year's history of the organization. It is my pleasure to introduce to you your toastmaster, Mr. Charles D. Boothe." Mr. Boothe responded with the following words: "Though we are here primarily to eat, drink and be merry—and smoke the pipe of peace—incidentally we may fatten our gray matter, during the further progress of this banquet, by absorbing some of the gems of thought, which, by way of variation, will be served to you on toast.

"May I be permitted to offer you a toast not on our card, but which I am sure will receive from every heart a happy response, more eloquent than any spoken word. Let us stand and advink to our mother."

THE CITY OF LOS ANGELES.

THE CITY OF LOS ANGELES. In responding to the toast, "The City of Los Angeles," Mayor Fred Eaton of Los Angeles," Mayor Fred Eaton said: "I see printed under the name of this toast the words, 'For forms of government let fools contest.' I have been trying to think what application this has to Los Angeles. Two or three suspicions have entered my mind as to its intent. First, it might refer to our last Board of Freeholders, or it toast: "The Secretary of Commerce to Be." Before speaking directly to the toast, he said:

"This hour and this gathering afford me the opportunity of expressing to your large and highly useful body of citizens some thoughts and desires as to the sentiments and purposes that the Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association and all like organizations should hold toward each other and to which I trust you will gladly respond.

"Let each of us repel and cast away as utterly unworthy any thought, desire or purpose of being rival organizations.

"Far, far above and way beyond the fact that we are members of these little organizations is the great fact that we are a part of the greater organization—the city of Los Angeles, and that neither organization is for small aims and selfish purposes, but created and existing for general advancement all along the line of our common welfare."

"Speaking to the toast, Mr. Slauson said:

"This 'Secretary of Commerce to be' is as yet an unknown delty, and I will not undertake ignorantly to worship or denounce him. I take it, however, that pressed by the toastmaster, in introducing him, that the streets of Los Angeles would soon be paved with other than good intentions. In this line the Mayor referred to the difficulty which had been met in trying to have boulevards constructed, and closed with the statement that the one necessary adjunct to the successful completion of a scheme to build a boulevard was to decide on the exact route which the thoroughfare was to follow. OUR COMMERCIAL INTERESTS.

The subject assigned to Hon, C. C:

The subject assigned to Hon. C. C. Wright was "Our Commercial Interests," one of the most important matests," one of the most important matters presented during the evening and the one having possibly the widest range. At the outset the speaker pointed to the many phases in which his subject would have to be considered, its importance to the individual as well as to the community, and the influence it has upon the whole world's doings. He asserted that the distribution of products to the consumer, from which all our commercial interests arise, is of greater importance than the production of such products in that it involves transportation and the good offices of the merchant, wholesale and retail, as a means of reaching the consumer.

retail, as a means of reaching the consumer.

The speaker pointed out wherein productive industry was fostered by the increased demand resulting from an ample and economic supply and showed the relative dependancy of the respective branches of commercial industry upon every other branch.

"Agriculture and manufacturing must not be neglected. Particularly must we devote our energies to the art of manufacturing," said he. "Agriculture is caring pretty well for itself-culture is caring pretty well for itself.

must not be neglected. Particularly must we devote our energies to the art of manufacturing," said he. "Agriculture is caring pretty well for itself. There seems to be no reason why these two fields of productiveness shall not be made to yield bountifully. In no manufacturing is made to yield bountifully. In no manufacturing has reached an intrinsic value here not equaled anywhere else in the world. When I say intrinsic value here not equaled anywhere else in the world. When I say intrinsic value here not express a distinction between that and mere market value. Market value may be, and often is, fictitious; but intrinsic value is always real. I wish to impress upon your minds an important distinction. If you cannot in these times buy a thrifty and majured orange orchard for less than $1500 per acre it is because it has that intrinsic value. And had what is true of an orange orchard in Southern California is true of any other agricultural field. Our agricultural lands for all agricultural purposes have rextraordinary intrinsic values. This is a condition most favorable to our future. It is one of the two greatest elements of commercial greatness. What can we do to assist in the development of the agricultural lands at our doors? We can lend our influence to any well-directed effort to supply the lands now arid with water for their irrigation. One of the most important problems of the present is how shall we be able to conserve and distribute the waters of our vast water sheds to the lands requiring irrigation? The solution of this problem means as much to the commercial interests of Southern California, and consequently to the city of Los Angeles, as the development of manufacturing interests. Great agricultural capabilities will very materially help us. but will not alone save us from commercial decay. We must make of the city of Los Angeles a manufacturing center. It is so plain that it needs no demonstration that we will assured. Such progress as has already been made has been achieved under conditions far l sine quo non to great success in manufacturing, is mearing a most successful solution. Electric power as an agent has already proved a quickening impulse in this field of economic science. The era of electrical power is upon us, and it promises to lend an impetus to manufacturing far in excess of an other influence heretofore felt. Whill manufacturing has not reached gigan tic proportions as yet, it has made substantial progress, and considering the conditions which have handicapped its growth, it affords an earnest of th future in this field."

With reference to the San Pedro
Harbor and its effect upon the commercial interests of the section, Mr.

We lie upon the boundary of that vast expanse of waters which lead to the very doors of all the foreign mar-kets of the world. The government with generous hand is constructing for kets of the world. The government with generous hand is constructing for us a great commercial harbor. We are already about to celebrate this event with fitting ceremonies. It should be the occasion of the greatest jubilee ever given by an American city. Who can foretell its full significance to our city and to the prosperity of her citizens? If, under present conditions and during a period of the greatest financial depression ever known in our country, our city has gone forward with giant tread, and has more than doubled her population of 50,000 in seven years, what may not her future be with a great maritime harbor lying at our very doors. It will open up to us by the sea's highway every commercial port of the world. It impresses us anew with the startling fact first gotten from our primary geographies that 75 per cent of the earth's surface is water. This vast domain of ocean and sea and gulf belong allike to all mankind. As a maritime state we may enjoy the advantages: thus afforded, and it is not too much to expect that our commercial interests will in this new port-find a greater stimforded, and it is not too much to expect that our commercial interests will in this new port-find a greater stimulus than they have ever before known. Added to this great advantage is that which must follow the construction of the Nicaragua Canal. This will open up a short and convenient ocean highway connecting the two great coasts of or continent as two great coasts of or continent, as well as affording quick communication between the Pacific Coast and all Eu-

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

R. W. Burnham, in response to the toast, "Southern California," said:

"Tis said nature made Southern California in a repentant mood, pouring out with lavish hand her most gracious gifts as if to atone for her niggardliness in less favored sections. To depict her beauty of scenic eeffct, her wealth of coloring, her indescribable charm, has driven the poet to despair and the pamphleteer of the Chamber of Commerce to the verge of melancholy madness.

spot for centuries from the advance of civilization, but when at last eastern brain and capital surged through the mountain passes, she gave a glad sunshiny welcome and a willing earth that answered marvelously to thought-ful care. Water was brought from subterranean depths. The blessed trinity—soil, sun and water—was a key to a magazine of power, and, "presto, change," arid slopes have turned to green farms, desert ceased to grow ifs and cacti, and with a swift impulse of growth cities have sprung up as though by magic. Equipped with all the features of the highest type of civilization found in eastern cities of a century's growth, they nestle at the foot of skyward pointing hills, they sit by the smilling sea; each a gem with its own characteristically beautiful setting.

"It has been often said that every city in Southern California claims to hold the most direct evidence that her's is the preëminent spot. And why not? Cities, like men, are made each with some triumphant superiority, and the success of any great section is made up of many contributions. But in the main it has been a generous rivalry, not malignant running for place, and any little jealousies of locality must disappear with youth. Southern California is now a great commonwealth. It should thrill with a public and universal soul.

"Great have been the achievements of Southern California to the achievements fornia is now a great commonwealth. It should thrill with a public and universal soul.

"Great have been the achievements of Southern California in the past twenty years, but the promises for the coming decade are infinitely greater. We are entering an age of marvelous development in material things. The forces of nature are being better understood and adapted to industrial uses and commercial development.

"When Tesla solved the problem of long-distance transmission of electrical energy, he made it possisble for every city of Southern California to hum with the whirr of the wheels of industrial progress. The thunder of a nation's cannon have opened up greater commercial possibilities than yet known. Never before was the world so truly 'all gates, all opportunities.' But opportunity to the man who does not use it, as George Eliot says, is an unfecundated egg that the waves of time wash away. No industrial or commercial miracles will be wrought for us; we must as a section reach out in a combined forceful way for enlarged business relations.

"Natural boundaries knit us together:

forceful way for enlarged business relations.

"Natural boundaries knit us together: let us be united by the subtler web of our brains, and it does not take a great rush of brains to the head to prove to us the wisdom of a policy of solidarity.

"The advancement of any locality is inadvertently a gain to the whole. Let us have a fellolwship in gain or loss, in victory or defeat. Let our interest and pride embrace our whole matchless adomain, not the little corner within our own barbed wire.

"Let solidarity be the watchword for our industrial and commercial advancement. Let us build altars to such a unity and inscribe over each:

"I shall know that your good is mine. Ye shall feel that my strength is yours."

MODERN BUSINESS METHODS. Modern business methods were com-pared with those of the past by H.

Modern business methods were compared with those of the past by H.

W. Frank, who said:

"The difference between the business methods of today and the yesterday of fifteen or twenty years ago, is the difference between the horse car and the trolley; between gas and electricity; between the errand boy and the telephone; between the blonde typewriter and the old-fashloned book-keeper. Perhaps when another five years have rolled around, we will again be looking backward and wondering how we could have been so slow. Perhaps the Nicaragua Canal will be finished, and our freight coming via that route, or over the fast freight line of the Salt Lake Railroad.

"Many of you will recall your early experiences in the country store. Special sales or selling goods at cost, were not known. We had no mammoth show windows to dress-very few merchants maintained the one-price system—prices were not advertised for fear competitors would undersell. Clerks knew every part of a mucharled stock. It was the custom to go from the ribbon counter to the butter barrel; from the dress goods counter fo the nail keg; from the codfish pile to the molasses hogshead, and from the candy jar to the shoe box. The country store was the cradle in which the modern department store was rocked. Even in the larger cities the same business habits prevailed to a great extent. Later we dropped into specialty stores—we had exclusive hatters, shoers, dry goods, fancy goods, etc. Now again we seem to be verging toward department business, while on the contrary, the wholesaler and manufacturer find it most profitable to keep only one class of goods. In those days we had time to sit around the old stove and spin all-wool yard-wide yarns to the accompaniment of a contented heart beat, and if we wanted to treat a particularly bibulous friend we opened a bottle of Hostetter's bitters. Yes, indeed, good old days were those.

"How about modern methods? In the words of the poet it is "Hustle and busile hustle."

we opened a bottle of Hostetter's bitters. Yes, indeed, good old days were those.

"How about modern methods? In the words of the poet it is "'Hustle and bustle, bustle and hustle.' "Competition at the present day is close and sharp. Rents are higher, cost of living is greater, and since more are engaged in business the profitis are proportionately smaller. Your only salvation in a business way is in doing a more voluminous trade resultant from an increased population. Nevertheless, I incline to modern methods of culck sales and small profits—correcting bad buying or mistakes by selling first and repenting afterward. This applies to the wholesaler as well as the retail trade.

"In these ages of increased business

Ing first and repenting afterward. This applies to the wholesale, as well as the retail trade.

"In these ages of increased business activity it is a case of the 'survival of the fittest,' but no single rule may be cited as the sure rule for success. There are firms here in this fairest of fair cities who have succeeded without the use of printers' ink, 'and there are others' who have been built up by very liberal and judiclous advertising. Los Angeles merchants, as a rule, are very enterprising, and the advertising done here is up to date in every particular, and not surpassed by any American city of equal size. To be a good advertiser one does not necessarily have to be original. An old idea may be made to assume many a new aspect—originality is individuality.

"The worst feature of the present day is dishonest advertising. The State of New York now has a law to prohibit misrepresentation, but it will be hard to enforce. We have winked the other eye at sharp practices so long that they now bear some semblance to the trademark of legitimacy. Indeed, if a merchant be a so-called good fellow, the very public whom he is fleecing would consider the charge of fraud made by a competitor as the act of a jealous rival. But possibly if we, as a people, would consign fakes and fakirs to the bane of our disfavor, that term 'Made in Germany,' which now suggests quality and reliability, would mean no more to us than those words which should be so dear to each of us, viz.: 'Made in America.'"

THE M. AND M. ASSOCIATION. H. J. Fleishman responded to the toast "The Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, Wholesalers as Well as Retailers." He began his speech by pointing to the illimitable scope of such a subject, declaring that it could not be confined to any mere local district, but from its very nature ocal district, but from its very nature spread to all parts of the world where there were commerce and manufac-tories. Its reference to the local as-sociation, however, led him to deal par-ticularly with the whole of the valley from which the city draws the nourish-ment for her growth and development. "Commerce and manufactures properly go hand in hand," he said, "and it is the height of wisdom to unite them in the most intimate and most affectionate embrace. These two together circumscribe all other interests, material and intellectual. It is indisputable that the development of the products of the soil depends on commerce and manufactures rather than the convense of this proposition. The producer ains to supply the demand for his products. Without commerce he merely has a local market of the narrowest limit. The merchant appears on the scene, gathers up a little surplus product and finds for it a market beyond local confines. Commerce united with manufacturing industries is the greatest civilizer of the century. Civilization is the highest adornment heaven has given to man, and goes hand in hand with commerce."

lizer of the century. Civilization is the highest adornment heaven has given to man, and goes hand in hand with commerce."

The speaker asserted that it was the mercantile interests that primarily led to the achievenemits of the country during the past year, for, he argued, the pioneer merchants who entered Cuba blazed the way to what will ultimately result in a Cuban freedom which will take the place of what was a Spanish despotism.

"Merchants and manufacturers have had to fight for more than their material possessions," he continued. "They have had to fight for their good name and honor. The merchants and manufacturers of the world have not only taught mankind how to enjoy life in comfort, but they have taught their fellow-men to be truthful and fair and honest in their dealings with one another. Diplomacy is that branch of statecraft infamous for its art in keeping clear of the truth, and the recent success of the American Peace Commission in Paris was due to the fact that the commissioners were one and all clean-cut, honorable and successful men of business affairs. Even the trouble and scandal at Sacramento today, where scenes are presented which are not to the credit of this great State, is due to the fact that there are too few business men in the Legislature."

As to the San Pedro Harbor he said that, while the great work was for the benefit of the whole people, they would derive that benefit through the advantage that would accrue to the merchants and manufacturers of the section through the construction of the harbor and the vastly increased trade that would naturally result therefrom. He urged in all matters affecting business interests generally not only a display of individual interests, but united effort, the result of which would be benefits to the individual through the abundance of benefits to the community. He pointed to the wonderful growth of this section and attributed it to the enterprise of the men in business, whether that business was that of manufacturing or of selling. In conclusion

manufacturing or of selling. In conclusion he said:

"The past casts its radiant light ahead and in the brilliance of past achievement we read the promise of a much more glorious future. Safe in your hands and guided by your wisdom, here is to the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association of the future, with its thousands of members where now there are only hundreds, and here's to the city of your building, whose greatness will be of your making and whose unsullied name will be the glorification of those who follow us. And all glory to the merchant and the manufacturer, the true civilizers of the era." Following the toast of H. J. Fleishman, the toastmaster introduced Harry Chandler of The Times, who responded to the toast "The Press."
"News is your food, and you enough provide Both for yourselves and all the world

A PRACTICAL TALK.

A. Sbarboro, president of the Manu-facturers' and Producers' Association of California, came down from San

A. Sbarboro, president of the Manufacturers' and Producers' Association of California, came down from San Francisco to attend the banquet: He was called upon for a speech, and in response said, in part:

"The association which I have the honor to represent here this evening is has the same object in view as your own meritorious institution, the progress and prosperity of every part of the State of California. The first work which the Manufacturers' and Producers' Association of California took up was that of inducing the people of this State to use home products, quality and prices being equal.

"When this State was first settled by the gold seekers, it produced nothing, and therefore we had to obtain all our provisions from the Eastern States. Our habits have grown so of continuing to use the same articles that it was with the greatest difficulty that, when a new articles was produced or manufactured in California, the people were induced to discard their old habit and use the better and fresher article of home production.

"There are still some prejudices to be overcome in order to induce our people to use home products and home manufactures, and that is the reason that our association, and I presume your association, is in existence, and our work must continue until we succeed in replacing every article that can be produced or manufactured in this State, and by so doing develop our own inexhaustible industries.

"Next to home products our association aftacked for two reasons, the hygienic and the commercial. We found among many of the adulterated articles that jams and jellies imported from the East were murdering our babes, as they were made without any fruit whatever, while in our fruit orchards, an abundance of luscious California fruit was rotting under the trees.

"Next to home products our association aftended by a large delegation from all parts of the State. There the monstrosity of the adulterations committed was demonstrated. A bottle labeled 'Pure California Brandy,' which, upon inspection was fou which upon inspection was found to contain only 5 per cent. of our brandy, the balance being corn spirits made in Nebraska, water and drugs. That brandy, on its arrival in London( was dumged into the Thames.

"Our association has recently prepared a bill which is already under consideration by the Legislature, for the appointment of a Pure Food Commission, whose duty it shall be to see that the pure-food laws which we already have on our statute books, are rigidly enforced. This is one of the most important duties of government.

"We see throughout Europe that every article of food is thoroughly inspected and the adulterators, when convicted, are severely punished, not only by fine, but also by imprisonment. We have seen recently our neighbor Mexico, dump a quantity of wine because it was not pure. Let us follow the example of the civilized nations of the earth in this respect, and when a California label will be synonymous with the purity of the article represented by it, then our trade with the world will immensely increase and our fruit will no longer rot on the ground. I would therefore most earnestly request your association to assist us in the possage of the bill creating the 'Pure Food Commission.' Con gress has also seen the importance of this subject and has the matter under consideration, and we have petitioned it to pass the bill, which this State is the competition with prison-made goods. You will probably be astonished when I state to you that upon a careful investigation, we have found that California is the dumping ground of goods made by prison labor throughout the United States. They send us boots and shoes, furniture and clothing, stoves and hardware, and most everything conceivable. Here we have the raw material, the skilled laborers, and in every town and city we should have numerous manufacturing institutions, but how can free labor compete with the convict labor of the East?

"We have attacked this subject vigorously, and have petitioned every Senator and Congressman to vote for the Southwick Bill that was introduced in the last session of Congress, and which prohibits the shipping of prisonmade goods outside of the State where the same are manufactured.

"There is one industry, especially, that I wish to call your attention to, which of itself could give profitable employment to 1,000,000 inhabitants in this State, and that is the viticultural industry. While we have many industries which can compete with other States of the Union, in this particular industry, we have practically no competitors. We can now produce in industry. While we have many industries which can compete with other States of the Union, in this particular industry, we have practically no competitors. We can now produce in California absolutely as good wine as in any part of the world. The quantity which we can produce is only limited by the quantity that we can dispose of. "Italy and France each having a territory as large as this State, each produce 1,000,000,000 gallons of wine annually. These 2,000,000,000 gallons of wine are used by about 100,000,000 people. Now we have as our legitimate customers in the United States and in the adjoining republics, about an equal number of population to supply with our wine. So you will readily see that just as soon as our own people will get accustomed to the general use of light wines at their tables, this State will have to produce not 25,000,000 gallons of the persent of the persent of the persent of the persent of the means that instead of sixty millions of capital now invested in the industry, there would then be six billions, and instead of the vines covering 100,000 acres, as they now do, there would then be 1,000,000 acres of land cultivated in this industry. This will not only be a great source of richness to the State of California, but it will be far more valuabe as a blessing to the people of the United States, for then the curse of drunkenness will be wiped away from the country. We now send away $90,000,000 per annum for our coffee, and about an equal sum for our tea, which enormous amount could be distributed to the people of the State of California of the Manufacturers' and Producers' Association of the State of California, if wine were substituted for these beverages.

corn valued at $48,000.

The Glendower left Philadelphia December 27, clearing the Capes of the Delaware on the 28th. Shortly afterward the Glendower experienced bad weather, the wind coming out from the west and shifting to northwest with a heavy sea. On January 2 the storm increased, and blew with great fury, and enormous seas boarded the vessel, during which Peter West, able seaman, was washed overboard and lost.

On the 7th the steamer dipped her stern when an enormous wave broke over her, washing everything before it. The steamer filled rapidly. Every effort was made by the crew to clear the vessel, but without success. The pumps became choked with cargo. Fortunately on January 12, the Atlantic Transport line steamer Menominee hove in sight and rescued the entire crew, consisting of twenty-three men and their Scotch collie dog, and brought them to port.

he became President, the great Illinoisan had few friends to whom he gave his confidence and trust in a fuller degree than to Mr. Selby.

Mr. Selby at that time was editor of the Illinois State Journal at Springfield, and for his great services in helping, to elect Lincoln to the Presidency, one of the latter's first acts after being inaugurated was to appoint Selby postmaster at Springfield. In recent years, and up to the first of the present year, Mr. Selby has been employed on the editorial staff of one of Chicago's leading newspapers. He was considered one of the best informed newspaper writers in the country upon the political history of the West during the decades immediately preceding and following the civil war.

CONCERNING LAND

SALES IN OUTSIDE SOUTHERN CALI-FORNIA TOWNS.

Alhambra Electric Line-The New Town of Barrett-Canaigre-grow-ing at Rialto-A Number of Permits for Buildings.

Agents report a continued improved inquiry for real estate, and several good trades have been partly closed during the week, although they are not so far advanced that it is desirable to make the details public. Real estate agents learned the necessity of keeping their business to themselves until deeds are signed, and there are, unfortu nately, too many people who are always ready to place obstacles in the way of a sale, if they cannot benefit by it

The improved feeling in real estate is not confined to the city. From all parts of Southern California come reports of transfers. In some cases the sales involve many thousands of dollars.

WINCHESTER. An important sale was recently made at Winchester, in Riverside county, on the Santa Fé branch from Perris to San Jacinto. The Riverside Recorder San Jacinto. The Riverside Recorder reports that all of R. H. Miller's property was sold to W. H. McHugh of Chicago. The Recorder says:

"The property included in the deal was thirty-two five-acre lots adjoining

Mr. Miller also disposed of a sixty-acre tract near San Jacinto and some city lots there." ction 29, about forty acres two

SAN DIEGO.

SAN DIEGO.

At San Diego there is a noteworthy revival in the inquiry for real estate. Although prices are low as compared with those that prevailed during the boom, it is encouraging to note that there is a demand for property, at some price. The San Diego papers report an offer of $25,000 for the Consolidated Bank building, at the corner of Fifth and G streets. The receiver of the Consolidated Bank made a favorable report on this offer. As the building alone is said to have cost $100,000, the prospective purchaser, Ralph Granger, is not likely to lose any money by the transaction, should it be closed.

Alhambra is one of the most beau tiful suburbs of Los Angeles, but has paper announces that arrangements for the Alhambra Electric Railway are progressing in a satisfactory manner. The land subscriptions have been appraised by the Terminal Company, and the Alhambra committee is now securing the notes from subscribers, which are to be paid by installments as the road is built and in operation. The Terminal Company will sign a guarantee that the electric road shall be operated according to contract with the Alhambra people for at least ten years. As soon as the notes are all signed the contract for the road will be executed.

Barrett is a new town, laid out dur-ing the past year by the Pacific Land Company, near the Santa Monica Soldier's Home. The Santa Monica Out-look reports as follows in regard to improvements that have been made improvements that have been made there:

"Water pipes have been laid by which water is supplied for domestic use at a dollar a month for each family. Three wells have been dug to procure water for irrigation, which are being fitted up with windmills and tanks. Eight cottages have been built and others are in process of erection. Lawns are being developed and ornamental trees and shrubbery are being planted. A beautiful avenue has lately been constructed under direction of Gov. Smith, in the grounds of the Soldiers' Home, extending from the head of Fourth street, in Barrett, which avenue is destined to become one of the most popular drives in the grounds. Fourth street will compare favorably in beauty with the streets of older towns.

"Beside the residences named and the schoolhouse, there have also been built a church and a public hall, the latter, in dimensions 30x50 feet, is to be provided with electric lights."

which, however, was nipped in the bud, came to light recently. In the west end of town, a short distance this side of Westlake Park, is a fine piece of unimproved residence property, covering several acres. The tract consists of a sloping hill. It was subdivided during the boom, but none of it sold. In the subdivision an alley was laid out on the west side of the tract. A short time ago an innocent-looking petition was presented to the Council by a well-known firm of contractors, who enjoy a strong political pull, asking for permission to "clean" this alley. Fortunately, the owner of the tract happened to catch sight of this petition. On investigation he found that the "cisaning" would involve a series of cuts, running from eighteen to twenty-eight feet in depth, which would have ruined his property for the whole distance of a thousand feet, while at the same time furnishing the willy contractors with a large quantity of valuable dirt to fill in adjoining depressions. The scheme was knocked out.

"Instead of rushing an unnecessary plece of improvement through, with an advertisement in an obscure corner of a paper, ample public notice should be given to all parties interested, and they should be allowed every opportunity to show why improvements should not be made, if they think the time has not arrived for them. As it is now, the system frequently involves the practical confiscation of the property."

nad the following to say, editorially, in regard to the final collapse of the great land boom at Tacoma:

"The winding up of the great Tacoma land boom of ten years ago has become the duty of the Sheriff. Next month that functionary, who has acted as undertaker for more land boooms than he can remember, will auction off the remaining property of the Tacoma Land Company, said to be worth $3,000,000. During boom days the company figured as $10,000,000 corporation. We recall the manner in which it was exploited at the expense of San Francisco, the commonest jeer of the Tacoma people being that no such gigantic reai estate leverage had ever been known in the 'so-called metropolis,' and that its operations cast the 'petty concerns of San Francisco real estate dealers' completely into the shade. We were old-fogyish down here; the real hum and buzz and gingery fizz of urban development were at Tacoma and Seattle. It was even prophesied that the Sheriff would yet rule San Francisco's land market and plant his red flag in the tracks of a population fleeing northward to gather the crumbs from Tacoma's table. Those were great days in the Sound country for iridescent dreaming, but in the vernacular of the mining camp the golden visions did not pan out. And now the Sheriff appears to do the final summoning up.

"In looking back over the boom history of the last few years, at both extremes of the Coast, San Francisco has no lost opportunities to regret. We did not boom and were accounted slow, but the great enterprises of the city went steadily forward and have been adding every year to the solid wealth of the people. If there were no $10,000,000 land companies to splurge ther managed bank. Our great business houses were shaken even by four years of Cleveland and a low tariff; the deposits of banks, and particularly those of savings banks, steadily piled up; the securities of local corporations grew more and more valuable, and the population mounted to a point where it justified the last school census in an estimate of $80,0

"We can wish Tacoma no better luck in future than a similar experience Booms, like other speculative ventures, are enlivening for a time, but all that is made out of them does not compensate a town for the losses that follow. The moment prices reach boom figures a collapse is the next stage, during which the owners of property left on their hands at a high price endeavor to keep that price up in the expectation that another boom will come in which they may unload. This brings the exchange of realty to a standstill, from which it scannot recover until, in process of years, prices again reach bedrock. In the mean time, owing to the withdrawal of large sums from circulation, failures and fires become common and the town gets a bad reputation. And when a place once has an

CANAIGRE AT RIALTO.

Inquiries are occasionally received by The Times in regard to the status of the canaigre-growing enterprise at Rialto. in San Bernardino county. As The Times has stated, the result of this attempt has not, for various reasons, been a financial success. The San Bernardino Free Press, of recent date, had the following discouraging remarks in regard to this enterprise:

We are in receipt of an artistic pamphlet from the Anglo-American Canaigre Company, whose headquarters are in New York city, but are pretending to run canaigre plantations in this State and Arizona. We use the word pretend, as it covers the situation perfectly. In Rialto they have a considerable acreage of so-called canaigre, but it was planted as a speculation, more with the hope that capital could be interested and the land sold for a good round figure, than that a profitable crop of merchantable material would be produced.

As promoters they have spent considerable money on the wildcat scheme now being worked at Rialto, but have not developed anything, although when they went in there they circulated the report that they would at once commence the development of water in the mountains, with dams, reservoirs, wells, pipe lines and so on, which would furnish that part of the country with more water than could be used and all this was to be done with about $3,000,000. The plans on paper to the novice, were very alluring, but the best hydraulic engineers in this region, who know what it would cost, knowledge gained from life-long study, clain that the work, according to their prospectus, could not be done for $12,000,000.

The company purchased a certain tract of land for the sum of $14,000 of which they have not paid a cent and have failed to keep faith entirely with the so-called plantation, which, it is believed, would not pay for digging. So much for the present of the Rialto scheme. The Artzona ranch is on par with the Rialto farm in many respects, only they have ostensibly shipped some canaigre from that place. How much of

Miss Dunlap's residence for the try on a visit, and the doors were locked, but the boys entered through a window. On looking in the closet for the wrap they saw several and did not know which one belonged to Miss McClain. They were about to return for more definite information, when Knibbs said in a joke: "Let's burglarize the place."

"All right," said Cloud, and they picked up a few rings, a pair of operaglasses and a small clock and started out. Knibbs intensified the joke by suggesting that, in order to finish up the job, they also carry off a rocking chair which he had stumbled over after putting out the light. They thought it would be too much trouble, however, so the chair did not become a factor in their hilarity.

They then left the house as they entered it, and went home. Becoming engaged in other matters they forgot all about their side-splitting coup de etat until the next night, when they discussed the advisability of closing the incident by returning the jewelry, etc. They went to Miss Dunlap's house for that purpose and found the house all lighted up. Their little joke didn't seem to be in a good state of preservation. All the humor had worn off of it, and it wasn't half as funny as it was the night before. Their hearts failed them, and they concluded that Miss Dunlap instead of appreciating the joke, swore to a complaint against them for petty larceny. They were arraigned in court and had their trial set for yesterday morning before Justice Austin, in the meantime being released on ball. When their names were called yesterday Norman L. Knibbs did not respond, and his bail, $100 cash, was declared forfeited. Clinton Cloud was tried, found guilty, and will be sent

G. W. Wilderman is in from the Chuckawalla mines, about thirty miles east of Salton, where he reports considerable activity in mining matters. He and his associates own thirteen claims there, all more or less thirteen claims there, all more or less developed, while of these the Great Western has 200 tons of ore on the dump, the shaft being now down seventy feet. There are about thirty claims in the district and a large force of men is kept constantly employed, while the future of the district is considered quite bright, and constantly improving. The Iron Chiefmine of this district is operating its sixty-ton cyanide plant, and is turning out a large amount of gold. There are a number of small cillis in the district, one owned by Mr. Wilderman and his associates. Most of these are kept constantly at work.

DEAR DOCTORS:

I feel so grateful for the great benefit that I have derived from the use of Hudyan that I decided to write and tell you about it. I was never able to leard exactly what my trouble was, but I was perfectly conscious of the symptoms, for I must say that I suffered severely, both mentally and physicalily. I was all run down; could do but little work on account of the fact that the -slightest exertion tired me; could not sleep well at nights, and always awoke in the morning feeling very tired. I had paipitation of the heart often, especially when lying in bed at nights. I could do no work where I was compelled to stoop; if I did my back felt as though it would break.

These symptoms continued with more or less severity for a long time, and then others came on. I continued to grow weaker and felt that I would soon be compelled to give up my work. About this time I commenced to use Hudyan, and in congaquence I have been able to work steadily ever since, for I begen to regain my strength almost as soon as I commenced to use Hudyan. By degrees my nervous symptoms left me, and I am now perfectly cured and better able to work than I ever was. I shall be pleased to recommend Hudyan to any person who may be in need of treatment, for I feel that it is my duty, owing to the fact that I was completely cured by its use. Very respectfully yours.

The corporal traveled from the faraway Philippine capital to this city without any mishap, but he was in this city but a few hours before he was robbed of all his ready means of suste nance and transportation-$80 in cash and some papers of value only to him

Upon his arrival from San Francisco at 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning, Corp. Rucker and his traveling companion went to the Natick House. He reported the loss to the hotel people, and also to the police, but the thief who stole the belt has not been apprehended.

There is nothing left for the corporal to do but wait here until his money is found, or until funds are telegraphed him from resources at his command, for the corporal would like to have it understood that he is not to be regarded as an object of charity, even if he is temporarily stranded in a strange city. While blaming himself for his carelessness, he nevertheless feels indignant that any one would be a baree at while blaming nimself for his careless-ness, he nevertheless feels indignant that any one would be so base as to rob one of Uncle Sam's honorably dis-charged soldiers.

Corp. Rucker is a very intelligent and manly-appearing ex-soldier and has made warm friends among the police officials and other persons whom he has met during his short sojourn in this city. He is only 21 years of age, and was a student at Kansas City when the first call for volunteers was made. Learning that the Nebraska troops were to be sent to the Philippines, he hastened to Nebraska and succeeded in gaining enlistment in the First Nebraska Regiment, May 9. The regiment was shortly afterward ordered to Manila, where, as his discharge papers show, Corp. Rucker gave a good account of himself. His papers state that he was on outpost duty July 30, participated in the battle of Malate August 2, was on outpost duty again August 5 and 12, and participated in the capture of Manila August 13. After the capture of Manila August 13. After

August 2, was on outpost duty again August 5 and 12, and participated in the capture of Manila August 13. After the capture of the city, Corp. Rucker was detailed for service in the inspection department of the Manila custom-house, in which he continued until the date of his discharge, December 12, on account of an order from the adjutant-general for cutting down the Nebraska regiment to companies of eighty men each. This resulted in the retirement of about twenty-five members of each company, and Corp. Rucker was one of those mustered out.

Corp. Rucker left Manila December 18 on the transport Ohio. The vessel coaled at Nagasaki, Japan, and no further stop was made before San Francisco was reached, January 16. From the last-named place the corporal started for his home at Bethany, Mo., via the Southern Pacific, the Texas and Pacific and Rock Island route, but got no farther than Los Angeles, where he was robbed.

The returned soldier does not have a very high opinion of the fighting qualities of the Filipinos. He says the American soldiers generally regard the probability of a serious conflict with the natives in the light of a joke. He thinks Aguinaldo is a remarkable man, however, and exerts a magnetic influence upon all who come in contact with him. He says the American officers, as a rule, respected Aguinaldo's ability, and treated him with becoming courtesy. It is the corporal's opinion that Aguinaldo wanted aspirations for the independence of the islands.

Owing to his ill luck here, Corp. Rucker will probably remain in the city at least a few days.

When that is accomplished the crime of publishing Sunday newspapsr is to be suppressed and there are to be no places of a nusement open on Sunday. The bewildering statement was made

The bewildering statement was made by one of the speakers that when all this should be accomplished the individual would have the greatest possible liberty. Following the speeches there was an open discussion, in which all present were invited to participate. There was but one discordant voice. One man wanted to know what would become of the liberty of the Jews, Mohammedans and others who do not accept the Christian religion, when the Bible shall have been made a textbook in the schools of the country. This speaker was told that this being a Christian country, those who do not believe in that religion have no right to demand that the majority refrain from exercising their full will. In doing so, they are asking a little too much, he was told, and if they do not like that state of affairs, they are free to go elsewhere.

Lev. Dr. W. F. Day, pastor of the First Congregational Church, presided. Rev. W. Logan, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church, was the first speaker, his subject being: "The Essential Elements of Christian Citizenship." He said in part:

part:

"Good citizenship has become a shibboleth of all our church societies, and the words are often spoken by others. But many of those who valothers. But many of those who val-iantly trod through the mud during the last campaign for either gold or silver, did not comprehend the mean-ing of the words. Good citizenship which ends in the individual is like a which ends in the individual is like a railroad that goes nowhere. The practical politician who 'gets there' is not afraid of a movement which aims at no particular end. The State has no one to whom it is accountable but God himself. It is claimed by some people that the making of a Christian nation from this country would deprive the Jews and the infidels of their rights, but neither the Jew nor the infidel finds his highest opportunities in a Mohammedan country or in infidel prive the Jews and the infidels of their rights, but neither the Jew nor the infidel finds his highest opportunities in a Mohamsmedan country or in infidel France, but in a Christian country. The more Christian-like a country becomes, the more it extends the liberty of individual citizens. This organization stands unalterably opposed to the union of church and State, which is by no means implied by the words Christian citizenship. It is when the State recognizes its moral obligations that the separation of church and State is complete. Many ministers have been criticised for working for clean politics, and they have often had it hinted to them that they are out of their sphere in such work. They have been told that there is no politics in heaven. Politics is not essentially evil. Abraham Lincoln found in politics the opportunity for striking the shackles from the wrists of the slaves."

J. H. Blanchard spoke for a pure ballot, which he held should be as sacred as the jury box.

Rev. Dr. H. H. George, field secretary of the National Reform Association, spoke on the topic: "Christian as Against Secular Government." He said that there are but two theories of the relationship of the Bible to the government. One is that the Bible has absolutely nothing to do with government, that the church and the State occupy entirely independent positions, neither invading the field of the other. The other theory is that the Bible has everyting to do with government. No one, he said, could occupy a medium position. One or the other theory must be accepted in its entirety, and he proceeded to outline his theory that the Bible should be taken as the fundamental law of the land and be made a text-book in the public schools.

A few of the speakers thought God created governments, while others held to the idea that God would not have established such a variety of governments if He had been their creator, and that He would probably have created better governments than those which exist if He had been their author. ment of the colored race.

A memorial to the General Assembly was drafted, and an address to the colored people of the State was issued. In the first they asked the Legislature to continue its appropriations to its schools and charitable institutions, and "not to pass any laws, the effect of which would be to blunt our aspirations, reduce our manhood, and lessen our usefulness as citizens, but guarantee to us an equal chance with other men to work out our destiny." In the address the colored people of the State are counselled "not to be hasty in making any changes in their political surroundings and plans, but quietly and industriously to fulfill all existing contracts and where necessary enter into new ones for the current year."

A committee of fifteen, one from each Congress district, and six from the State at large, was appointed to continue the work commenced by this council toward bettering the condition of the colored people of North Carolina. A memorial to the General Assembly

COOK'S BACK-ACTION JOKE

TRIED TO MAKE HIS OLD MOTHE BELIEVE HE WAS DEAD.

Saw Through the Hoax and Got Chief Glass to Explode It—The Joker is Sorry Now.

The fool-killer has not killed all the practical jokers yet. Of all the people in need of the fool-killer's attention, the case of the young man who thinks it is funny to break his mother's heart is erhaps most urgent.
Arthur B. Cook is that sort of young man. At least Cook says he was only joking when he resorted to deception and forgery to make his mather believ that he was dead and buried and that he did not leave enough money behind him to afford him a decent funeral. That is the gruesome sort of joke Cook alleges he tried to play on his mother, but there are persons who be-lieve that there was method in Cook's jesting and that what he really aiming at was to extort money nis aged parent. Unfortunately for the jovial-minded young man, he has a step-father who s a retired police sergeant after wenty-five years' active service, and in consequence of his experience in de-tecting frauds and imposters, was able to see through Mr. Cook's attempt at

Young Cook came to Los Angeles in 1887, from Swansboro, Chesterfield county, Va., and until recently was emcounty, Va., and until recently was employed in a planing mill on San Pedro street, and roomed at the home of Mrs. William Allen at No. 822 Towne avenue. On November 28 last his namesake, Arthur B. Cook, an employé of the Ganahl Lumber Company, was killed by a pile of lumper toppling, over upon him in the company's East Los Angeles yard. The dead man left a wife and several children, who are seeing that his grave is kept green. The surviving Arthur B. Cook probably had never heard of his namesake before he read the account of his death in the daily papers. The tragedy filled him with mirth and he could not resist the temptation to augment his hilarity by casting gloom over the old home in Virginia. Filled with this unholy glee, Cook selected a report of the accident which made no mention of the victim's family and malled his mothers a marked cony of the process.

This mournful piece of news, of Cook's mother to Mrs. Allen, asking for further information and requesting that certain belonging of her lamented son be sent to her. Cook was watching for the reply and managed to intercept the letter. to which he replied as follows:

"LOS ANGELES Cal., Dec. 31, 1898.
"Mrs. Holden: Your letter addressed to Mrs. Allen, 872 Towne Ave. was handed to me this morning. It had lain at the postoffice all the while, Mrs. Allen having moved and lett no address. I enclose a bank book which shows that the money was all drawn out of the bank. I could find nothing else of any importance, except old clothes which I don't presume you would want.

"Yours truly. TOM SMITH."

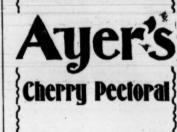

Upon receipt of this letter by Mrs. Holden, Cook's stepfather took a hand in the joke. To him it seemed to have a serious aspect, not on account of the supposed death of his precious stepson, but because his suspicions were aroused that somebody was playing the old lady a low-down trick. Accordingly he wrote to Chief of Police Glass, enclosing the purported letters from Tom Smith and Mrs. Allen, together with the savings bank book, which showed the state of Arthur B. Cook's finances. Mr. Holden in his letter to Chief Glass said, in part:

"Mrs. Allen's letter, dated November 30, says Cook was killed the morning of the 28th, and the money he had in the bank did not dover his funeral expenses. The attached bank book shows Cook had deposited $10 on the 28th, and his total balance was then $137. Now, if Cook was killed in the morning of that day, he must have called at the bank before going to work, and I think it should not have taken that amount to pay the funeral expenses of a man in his position. This man, Tom Smith, falls to give his address or say where he got Mrs. Allen's letter, which leads me to suspect there must be something wrong. Therefore, I request you will be kind enough to cause inquirise to be made to ascertain the facts."

The writer then goes on to say that he himself is an ice."

Upon receipt of Sergt. Holden's letter several days ago, Chief Glass detailed Detective Goodman to look into the matter. Goodman got track of young Cook yesterday evening, and took him before the big Chief, who gave the young man a very uncomfortable quarter of an hour. Cook confessed that he was the author of the hoax, which, he said, was perpetra

As there is no law to cover the kind of fraud Cook confessed himself guilty of, the Chief dismissed the young man with a sound lecture, and turned him over to the police reporter. When Cook realized that his pecadillo was to be shown up in print, he ceased to see anything funny in the hoax. He thought it was an outrage to have the joke of his own invention thus exposed. He seemed to fear that somebody might copy it before he could take out a patent.

Federal Inspection.

IN A Senate bill by which it is proposed to arrange for the inspection of food products imported from abroad, there are several paragraphs of great interest to California, which were inserted by Senator Perkins. One process to the Secretary of Agriculture gives to the Secretary of Agriculture sufficient funds to provide for a spe-cial examination into the causes of the blight which has affected many fruit trees in this State. This will include the ravages of the San José scale, and, it is stated, in a dispatch from Wash-ington, that the recent failure of the olive trees to bear will also be in-cluded in the inquiry. The Times has suggested that an investigation into the olive situation should be made by the State University. Possibly, however, an investigation by the Department of Agriculture will be more efficacious and thorough.

Olive Culture

D IRECTOR HILGARD of the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of California has issued a circular which reads as follows: "The Agricultural Experiment desiring to continue its studies tion, desiring to continue its studies on California clives, requires your cooperation. It is of especial importance to determine the relative values of different varieties from different localities, more particularly as regards their content for a dry season. You would aid this work greatly by sending two pounds of fresh fruit of every variety that you can obtain, carefully labeled to this station by Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express, charges collect. Any data that you can furnish regarding soil and express, charges collect. Any data that you can furnish regarding soil and other conditions will be of value. Mark upon the package: Olives for analysis, Agricultural Experiment Station, University of California, Berkeley."

This is good as far as it goes, but it should go farther. As The Times has suggested, it would be a good idea for the University of California to appoint a commission, or at least to depute a commission, or at least to depute one of its attachés to solely investigate the olive situation in Southern California, regarding which there at doubt in the minds of the growers. If California is so well adapted to the culture of the cilive as we have been taught to think, there is no reason why this industry should not assume importance as great, if not greater, than citrus-fruit culture. At present, however, as we have said, there exists much doubt on the subject in the public mind and it would be an excellent thing if the university would take upor itself to throw light on the subject.

In regard to this question of success or failure in the olive business, the Poona Times has the following encouraging words:
"The Times tries to get at the trut

in all things. It has been in some doubt about the success of olive cul-ture in this section, with a hope and strong belief in favor of final success. ture in this section, with a hope and strong belief in favor of final success. Our item of last week to the effect that Henry H. Wheeler's crop of five gallons was the largest in the valley this year, induced B. G. Parker, whose orchard is two miles northwest of North Pomona, to call in and report that his crop this year amounts to just about twenty gallons of perfect clives, and he believes no other orchard produced as many, for he valnly looked about to find olives to purchase for curing. Mr. Parker has faith in the olive as a profitable product in this locality. This is his seventh year's experience, and the six years preceding this his trees bore full crops, and without any irrigation. He accounts for the general failure this year to the fact that just as the fruit was setting there were two exceptionally hot days. He is sure that where the hot days alone caused the failure of the crop, and one failure in even years is not enough to discourage him.

"Until others began to flood the market with imperfectly-cured olives, at low prices, he found ready sale for his at $1$ a gallon. He believes that if the trees are planted on loose, gravelly or sandy soil, kept clean of scale, properly pruned and cultivated, that full olive crops will be as sure as those of the orange. It is a mistake to suppose olive trees can be neglected and produce valuable crops; and they will not thrive so well nor bear so good fruit on hard. clay, table land, as on the warm, porous soil, with sand and even some gravel. Olives from orchards on heavy, hard soils, will not cure so readily or perfectly as those produced on the porous soils; has proven by experiments that it takes one and a half times as long to cure olives grown on the hard soils as on the loose soils. When both growths are cired together, some are over and some undercured. His orchard is only strigated from the clouds, but he favors a full irrigation just when the fruit is setting and a light irrigation when it begins to color and is nearing maturity.

"These are some of Mr. Parkers ex-when it begins to color and is nearing maturity.

"These are some of Mr. Parkers experiences and conclusions, and they are worth consideration. The greater the variety of our productions on a brofitable basis, the better for the community. Thousands of acres near here are planted to olives. Some of the trees may be on unsuitable land, and in such cases the trees should be dug up. Some of them have been so long neglected that it may be difficult to restore them to good bearing condition. We are pleased to give publicity to the experiences of Mr. Parker."

Since the above was written it is announced, as mentioned in another column, that Senator Perkins has intro-bill which will appropriate money for the investigation of California orchards, including olive orchards.

The Horticultural Commission.

REFERENCE has already been made in this department to the feeling of dissatisfaction which prevails among the fruit growers of the county in regard to the action of the County Supervisors in appointing A. R. Meserve as one of the Horticultural Commissioners in place of C. G. Kel-log, who was elected Public Administrator. How intense this dissatisfaction is in some quarters may be judged from the following editorial in the Pomona Beacon of January 12:

"When C. G. Kellog was elected Pub-lic Administrator at the late county election it necessarily caused a vacancy in the Board of Horticultural Commis sioners, Mr. Kellog resigning a few days before the 1st. In full keeping with the principle which has seemed to actuate the Board of Supervisors in all actuate the Board of Supervisors in all such county affairs, it took ample time to consider the matter in all its political bearings, and then acted in strict regard for its politics, present and future, and with an utter disdain and insulting disregard of fruit-growers and the fruit-growing interests of the county. The man the Supervisors selected for the commissionership was none other than A. R. Meserve, who of all men, from his past record, was the least fit for the place. But what do our Supervisors care for fitness? His appointment was to compensate his son for the part he may have played in reflecting one Supervisor and electing another, and as chairman of the Republican county convention.

"A few years ago this Mr. Meserve part he may have played in reflecting one Supervisor and electing another, and as chairman of the Republican county convention.

"A few years ago this Mr. Meserve imported into this country and attempted to get into the port of San Pedro an immense quantity of orange trees and oranges from the island of Tahiti, in violation of the quarantine laws. These trees and the fruit were literally loaded with a particularly viscious and destructive scale, worse and more prolific than any of the scale pest yet introduced into this country from foreign ports, and which are causing so much trouble and expense to the county and State. The expense for fumigation and litigation by Mr. Meserve cost the county nearly $10,000, but resulted eventually in the trees being burned up and the fruit, what was fit for use, thoroughly cleansed.

"This gentleman is now being placed in a fair way at $4 a dey for thirty days in the month for getting even on some part of his expense—and the public has only to stand by and look on.

"The Supervisors, with a contemptuous disregard for everything but putting the emoluments where they would do the most good, have made the Horticultural Commission a sham and a fraud—a costly and useless thing—for family uses and to pay political debts. "Nearly two years ago, when the commissioners were elected a combination was made by which Supervisor Field made his nephew a member; Supervisor Davis forced Kellog to resign as Deputy Sheriff to put his son in his place, making Kellog a commissioner were elected a man who had threatened to knock him out for reelection as Supervisor. And so the board was formed with selections of men as thoroughly incompetent as could be found, into whose hands was committed one of the chief industries of the county, who were only capable of drawing their, $4 per day for a full month and mileage. It is an outrage which calls for resentment. This commission costs all the way from $12,000 to $16,000 per year. What do our fruit growing taxpayers think of it? Need it excite our special Supervisors have no money to pay them when due and ask the people to refund with a man who imported a shipment of infected trees into the county as one of the commissioners, and a man who has been running an elevator for inspector, the fruit-growers of Los Angeles county may feel comparatively—although not superlatively—safe.

Choice Eucalyptus

D. C. SMITH writes as follows to The Times from Pasadena in re-gard to the suggestion made last week by Campbell Johnson in his article on choice varieties of eucalyptus space should be set aside in one of the parks for the cultivation of

As to the locality for su periment, there is ample room either in Elysian or Griffith park, while the climate of those parks is much less liable to frost than that of the southern or outhwestern portions of the city, and would, therefore, be better adapted to the growth of the more delicate varieties of eucalyptus:s

ond his suggestion that a few acres be set apart in one of the Los Angeles parks for the planting of, say 100 varieties of that tree:

"In the parks already established it would doubtless be difficult to find sufficient land that could be devoted to such a purpose; but in the park soon to be provided in the southwestern part of the city, the land is all yet to be planted. If there are twenty acres in the new park, there would be land that could be spared for this unique purpose. There are many reasons favoring such a plantation of eucalyptus in a park.

"The trees, of course, would not be planted in a solid bed, like the ordinary eucalyptus grove, but rather would be made an attractive feature of the park.

"The eastern visitors are much interested in the eucalyptus, and if they could go to a park where 100 varieties or better, yet, all the varieties that will grow here, may be seen together, it is certain that such a place would become one of the attractions of the city.

become one of the attractions of the city.

"Our own people would go there and seeing many beautiful varieties of the ornamental sorts would gradually adopt them, and thus beautify the city. And children from the schools would surely go there to study this wonderful family of trees. Let us possess the distinction of having within easy access the most complete collection of eucalyptus in America, and, perhaps, in the world.

eucalyptus in America, and, perhaps, in the world.

"And why not call the place Eucalyptus Park, or Eucalyptus Gardens? It must be borne in mind that there need be no interference with the usual park features, so far as desired, because of the collection of eucalyptus, provided the new park contains the proposed twenty acres, and it is hard to believe that any less area for an outlying park would become the city of Los Angeles."

of culture. Such orchards are sure to produce good crops in good seasons. Whether fertilized or not, and except when strongly nitrogenous fertilizers are used, the fertilized and non-fertilized plots can hardly be distinguished from each other, either by the fruit or the appearance of the trees. A fertilizer carrying a large amount of nitrogen will at once show in increased wood growth, which is not always, and especially in such soils as those of our best farmers, what is desired.

Neither potash nor phosphates produce any such marked changes in the appearance of the tree as follows an abundant use of nitrogen, and yet it seems certain that in most old orchards it is those elements which most need replenishing. The draft of continual cropping upon an orchard is never made fully manifest until harvest time. The fruit sets abundantly, and to the casual observer looks well. When the

made fully manifest until harvest time. The fruit sets abundantly, and to the casual observer looks well. When the time comes for picking and sorting, the orchardist is astonished at the number of culls and small fruits. As years go by the ratio of this unprofitable fruit increases, and pretty soon the orchard shows an annual deficit. But while the general tendency is downward, occasional favorable years will so increase the output that the owner can hardly form any judgment as to the effect of form any judgment as to the effect of fertilizers.

In the present state of our knowledge we doubt whether any conclusions can be reached in regard to the use of fertilizers, except that if the orchard is deteriorating it needs them, and that if they are regularly supplied each year according to the best judgment, for the time being, of the owner, it will recuperate. It is also true that fertilization should begin on most soils after a short term of bearing, regardless of crops. This is seldom done in this State. While there cannot be too much careful experimentation with fertilizers by orchardists, we see no immediate prospect of the establishment of any general rules other than those which we have given. The experience of each man on his own farm must be the guide for that man—[San Francisco Chronicle.

perimentation with fertilizers by orchardists, we see no immediate prospect ules other bishment of any general rules of the boys and girls. If it exists on the farm it is an inspiration to a nobler, better manhood, if it is not on the farm there grows up with the boys a resolve to get away from his curdent rules of the boys and rules an

"This ideal home need not be a palace with costly appointments. I think I have seen as many pure, true homes in log cabins and cottages as in more pretentious houses. And the history of the great men in America will fully confirm this assertion.

"A boy is a queer study. His prattle and rattle are evidences of enterprise. They are not evidences of cussedness and depravity. It rather indicates a want of judgment and a need of kinder-garten inquiry to discover the inherent abilities of the boy and guidance into those lines. It is the general practice to curb all ebullition of the vigorous mind and hands and legs of the boy, and make him do as we do whether he wants to or not.

"A boy 10 years old nowadays knows more about what he wants than boys used to at 20 years of age. Do not forget that the 21 years to his majority is a tedious term to a farm boy. The farm boy imagines from what he sees of the city and town young men that they must have a very much better time, and he is tempted to try it."

Sotpped the Paper.

THE Ontario Observer has bee "stopped" by a fruit shipper be-cause that journal has had the good sense to recognize and support the co-operative system of marketing citrus fruits. This irate subscriber didn't stop paper, fortunately. He merely discontinued his subscription because the Observer, he claimed, had called him a thief, and it was not worth $2 a year for him to be blackworth $2 a year for him to be black-guarded out of business. The Pomotropic has been stopped numerously from the same cause. There are pinhead fellows in all the walks of life, but there are mighty few of that class among the fruit speculators of Southern California. Most of them take the opposition journals and are broad enough to see that the fight is not between men, but between systems, one of which is almost entirely cooperative, the other competitive to the last degree. We do not expect the speculators and commission fellows to be in love with a system of marketing that is injuring their business. But they must recognize the fact that their inis injuring their business. But they must recognize the fact that their individual business is a very small affair when measured against the welfare and perpetuity of a vast industry. When antiquated buildings must give way to new and useful structures the world has usually left the old tenants to shift for themselves. The orange speculators have been since orange speculators have been given five or six years in which to pad their fall, and have no reason to think they have been treated in a summary manner, even by such outspoken new papers as the Ontario Observer. POULTRY.

THE following particulars are furnished The Times, in regard to the Sherwood breed of poultry, which many experts believe to be equal to any of the new varieties, as an allaround fowl for general purposes. The information is sent by Mrs. A. R. Rockhill of No 501 Magnolia avenue, River-

"I will gladly accede to your request for a few facts concerning the origin and leading characteristics of the Sherwood fowls, which we deem the coming general-purpose fewl of the near future. The breed originated in a cross of Light Brahmas and White Indian Games. They are large, fine, shapely-formed birds, of white plumage, small, erect, single-comb, ear lobes and wattles red, yellow beak, legs and flesh. They are very quiet, gentle and tame, but not as sluggish in disposition as the Brahmas, nor are they vicious like the Games. The good qualities of their ancestors on each side seem happily blended in the Sherwoods.

"We are often asked if Sherwoods are not "White Wonders, White Plymouth Rocks" or "Wyandottes" under another name. They differ too greatly from each of the above to be mistaken for either, being of larger size and differing in general appearance. The hens are good layers, seldom broody and when inclined to set can be broken. "I will gladly accede to your request of the desire by confining them from the nest three or four days, differing in this widely from the Plymouth Rocks, which are such inveterate setters. They are quiet, good mothers, taking excellent care of their own broods and not "scalping" the chicks of other hens as the Plymouth Rocks are prone to do. The chicks feather quickly while most large breeds feather slowly and mature early. For these two reasons we think Sherwoods better for crossing with Leghorn or other small breeds for early broilers than any other breed we know. On account of their quiet, gentle disposition, they can be confined in small yards and lay as well as when given free range. Although of large size, they consume less food than a Leghorn and not over half as much as a Brahma.

I might enumerate other good qualities of the breed but deem these sufficient to show that as an all-around general-purpose fowl the Sherwood's fill the bill."

Practical Poultry Points.

As We not infrequently hear farmers and poultry-keepers complain about the number of cockerels they must raise and dispose of in order to obtain the number of pullets they would like to keep, and as we have though that there should be and could be a profit in those cockerels, if properly handled, we are glad to report the result of some experiments care. erly handled, we are glad to report the result of some experiments carefully made, which test the matter very thoroughly from the standpoint of feeding and fattening chickens after more than half-grown. We claim, and not many will dispute, that the cost of bringing a thrifty chicken up to about four pounds live weight is not large, but then they begin to require considerable food, and it is then that they are thought to be "eating their heads off" before they get in good condition for market.

LIVE STOCK

NE of the most important features in connection with the national Live Stock Convention, which meets at Denver on the 24th, will be a stock register, for the use of the delegates and visitors. Nearly every stock man at-tending the meeting will have stock to sell or wish to purchase. The register will be kept in the lobby of the Grand man, with a wide acquaintance among stock men. Every one interested in this, as well as all delegates, will have the privilege of registering their names, postoffice address and whether they desire to buy or sell, as well as the amount. This will serve as the means of making stock men acquainted with each other, and facilitate business Any person in any portion of the Union who is prevented from attending the convention can have his wants regisered by sending them to the recording secretary of the association.

The Merino Interest.

W E RECENTLY gave some facts showing a prospective scarcity of fine wool in this country, and the consequent inducement to extend California production in this line. At a recent meeting of the New York Merino Breeders' Association these features of the situation were emphasized by the president in his annual address.

For the past few years our country has been largely supplied with fin wool from foreign countries. Ou country has never produced but onehalf the wool she consumes, and will not for many years to come. In 1889 about 80 per cent. of our home-grown wool was fine or fine medium.

The National Association

The National Association of Wool Manufacturers has prepared its report on the wool clip of the United States for 1898. It states that we produced 266,720,684 pounds, it being 7,567,433 pounds more than in 1897, about 20 per cent. of which was fine.

They have also taken statistics of the Argentine Republic covering a period of eight years. In 1890 their clip was 500,000 bales, 75 per cent. of which was coarse bred. There has been a shrinkage of 160,000 bales of fine wool from Argentine in the past eight years.

The Australian clip of 1896 was 134,000 bales short, and again in 1898 it was short of 1897, making a net loss of at least 550,000 bales. All but about 25 per cent. is regarded as Merino. Reckoning the Argentine bale at two and one-half times the Australian, we have a total loss of about 750,000 bales of fine wool on the basis of the Australian bale. The most important phase of the wool market is the great shrinkage in the production of fine wool, resulting from the world-wide change in breeding that has been in progress for the past nine years. They have also taken statistics of the Argentine Republic covering a period of eight years. In 1890 their clip was 500,000 bales, 75 per cent. of which was coarse bred. There has been a shrinkage of 160,000 bales of fine wool from Argentine in the past eight years.

The Australian clip of 1896 was 134,000 bales short, and again in 1898 it was short of 1897, making a net loss of at least 350,000 bales. All but about 25 per cent. is regarded as Merino. Reckoning the Argentine bale at two and one-half times the Australian, we have a total loss of about 750,000 bales of fine wool on the basis of the Australian bale. The most important phase of the wool market is the great shrinkage in the production of fine wool, resulting from the world-wide change in breeding that has been in progress for the past nine years.

The users of fine wool are beginning to fear a famine in Merino stock, while it is the part of fashion to require an increased use of fine wool. The tables given in the report spoken of show that in 1897 we had the lowest production in eleven years. We had 7,567,433 pounds less wool than in 1898, but owing to the large importations and wool left over, it exceeded the clip of 1898 by 165,259,000 pounds. Most of the imported wool was fine Australian.

Unless London values of fine wool recede, our wools will advance to the importing point. When wool values went below the cost of production, our woolgrowers turned their attention more in the direction of mutton breeds. Our western wool-growers are on the verge of turning back to the Merino.

It is doubful if we shall be able for some time to come to produce enough Merino wool to supply the needs of our country, but a substitute of good fine medium could be produced in large quantities and in a comparatively short time, provided a sufficient number of good Merino rams be secured to cross on the cross-breds and mutton breeds. Throw prejudice aside, and if the ram should not be of your favorite breed, use him, but retain your best ewe lambs, for in them you have the foundation to work on.

What character of ram should be best to use to obtain best results in the shortest time? It should be one bred for a special purpose—one containing a dense, fine, even fleece, and so thoroughly bred in that direction that he would transmit his qualities to his off-spring. Such a cross on a large number of the cross-bred flocks would give a good general-purpose sheep—one that would produce a fleece of fine medium wool and a fair mutton carcass. Such a cross would not produce a sheep best for all purposes; but if the ram used its thoroughly bred in his fleece qualities, he would transmit his characteristice in his offspring with greater certainty.

For the past five months prices of fine wool have advanced 10 per cent. in the London market, and the tendency is still upward. When we compare their prices with ours, we find ours 20 per cent. below the compares of twenty years ago bred their sheep with wrinkles in excess. It mattered not how large and coarse they were, so long as they were gaining in weight of fleece, regardless of quality and evennes against them, and the feeling still exless. Since that date we are breeding for less prominent wrinkles with more density on the wrinkles, and with few or no jar hairs, and coat as well as on the other parts, more even on all parts, holding and increasing weight of fleece and size of carcass. I will not predict what the future improvement will be,

but one thing is certain—we shall not need to go outside of our American Merino flocks.

THE DAIRY.

A S RECENTLY mentioned in this department, a resolution was adopted at the Farmers' Institute held in Redlands, providing for State dairy schools in the shape of university extension work. A bill has been intro ced appropriating $10,000 for purpose. The dairy industry in Califor-nia should be made of far greater importance than it is at present, by systematic and intelligent development.
The amount asked for is a moderate
one, and it is hoped that the Legislature will grant the request.

Butter, Cream or Cheese,

N THESE times of close competition in dairying, to be master in his business, one must know how much milk will yield made up into various products when their market prices are such as to warrant a diversity. When milk testing 4 per cent. sells for 5 cents a quart, and skim milk is worth 20 cents per 100 pounds for feeding, it is bringing the equivalent of 40 cents per pound for butter. One hundred pounds of milk testing 4 per cent. fat would yield, on the average, 4.5 pounds of butter. In 100 pounds of milk there are about forty quarts. This sold at 5 cents per quart would bring $2, and taking out 20 cents, price of skim milk if butter were made, we see that 4.5 pounds of butter must sell for $1.80, or 40 cents per pound. In a similar way we see that 16 cents per quart for cream testing 20 per cent. fat is the equivalent of 29.3 cents for butter.

The yield of butter is estimated in business, one must know how much

The yield of butter is estimated in

A hundred pounds of milk testing 4 per cent. fat will yield about 4.5 pounds of butter, or 10.8 pounds of cheese. If it costs 3 cents per pound to make the butter, and 1½ cents per pound to make cheese, 18 cents per pound for butter will be equivalent of 7.6 cents per pound for cheese.

Such problems as the above, the up-to-date creamery man must readily, and then turn his milk into the most profitable channel.—[Prof. H. Hayward of Pennsylvania Experiment

GENERAL AGRICULTURE.

THE Barton brothers of England are agricultural scientists, likely to make a figure in the world. They are reported to have doubled the yield of Fife wheat by crossing it with an Asian variety, increased a barley head with two rows to six rows, crossed English and Japanese oats until fifty pounds to the bushel is the yield, and not only crossed white and red clover, but made red clover a perennial.

Alfalfa is a King of Crops.

THE following paper was read by Frank O. Lee of Hemet, before the Frank O. Lee of Hemet, before the Farmers' Institute:

"If I could get hold of one of your great water systems, I believe I could make alfalfa growing figure out a little better profit. Right here is where the rub comes in between raising alfalfa for a profit and raising alfalfa for fun. Yet I believe alfalfa will be one of the greatest products of the future Were I called upon to express an opinion as to what single product of the soil would probably assume the greatest importance in our State within the able for grain growing or orchard purposes, where water can be secured in abundance for irrigation. As a rule, every farmer and orchardist who has such land will find it to his interest to at least grow a sufficient quantity for his home needs.

"Alfalfa thrives best in soils containing lime, potash and magnesia. It does his home needs.

"Alfalfa thrives best in soils containing lime, potash and magnesia. It does not grow well in soils containing an excess of iron or where lime is wholly absent. Cut for hay when the first flowers appear. If cut when in full bloom the hay will be woody and less nutritious. Cut for seed when the middle clusters of seed pods are a dark brown. It is not safe to pasture cattle or sheep on alfalfa, as they are liable to bloat when it is fed green. Feed the hay, or practice siloing.

"There is no better or cheaper way of growing hogs than to pasture them on alfalfa. One acre will furnish pasturage for from ten to fifteen hogs per season. There is not better hay for growing stock.

"Alfalfa is not a complete ration. The best results are obtanied by feeding it with corn fodder, wheat or oat straw.
"Alfalfa hay properly cured has about the same value as red clover hay; but the yield is much greater. It can be cut from three to seven times in a season, and yields from a ton to a ton and a half or more at a cutting.

"Six to ten bushels of seed is the usual amount per acre. Sow alone without any nurse crop. The latter is often its as harmful as the weeds. Screen alfalfa, seed before sowing to separate the dodder and other weed seeds. Dodder or love vine is the worst enemy of alfalfa.

"In preparing the land for seed, burn or remove all weeds and rubbish from

"In preparing the land for seed, burn or remove all weeds and or seed, burn "In preparing the land for seed, burn or remove all weds and rubbish from the surface before plowing. Then if there are small mounds or hilboks which need to be removed with the scraper, it is much easier to do it before plowing the whole surface, as the low places where the dirt should be dumped may then be readily seen. Whatever leveling is needed should be done with reference to the location of the irrigating ditch. It is important that the general lay of the land be accurately ascertained, either by employing a competent engineer or by the actual running of water. After the ground has been leveled as thoroughly as possible with the scraper it should be plowed and the surface carefully pulverized. All dead furrows should be filled and some suitable instrument used to make the surface level and smooth.

"A plece of square timber twenty-five or thirty feet long, or a railroad iron with a team at each end and drawing it sideways over the land will level the surface as well or better than any other contrivance that I am acquainted with. As this is done rapidly, it is well to go over the land two or three times, changing the direction each time. This will keep the ground in fine shape for irrigating, providing the general level has been found.

"For convenience and economy in irrigating, say a ten-acre plot, should be divided into sections about forty feet wide and length of field. Let slight ridges form the sections or mark the divisions. Grade separately and make true each section by running the water over it before the seed is planted. By forming your plot of land in this way, leaving the ridges to form the divisions of the sections running in opposite direction from head ditch or flume, you avoid having any ditches to cross with the mower. You can mow crosswise of the ridges, and any size strip you wish at a time.

"To successfully irrigate a plot of alfalfa like I have described would require a 100-inch head of water. So you see, much depends upon the size head of water you are able to get, and how you prepa should have a good flooding after-each cutting. It would be still better if irrigated every two weeks the first season. If sown in the winter or early spring (February, I prefer,) the first season ought to make three or four tons per acre if properly cared for."

DELINQUENT DOCTORS. Many Lose Licenses If They Fail to

The yield of butter is estimated in many creameries by adding one-eighth to the butter fat; the yield of green cheese by multiplying the fact by 2.7, and that of cured cheese by multiplying by 2.6. This estimate is based upon milk containing about 3.7 per cent, fat, however, and the richer the milk the greater the yield from a given amount.

Washington's Birthday

Washington's Birthday.

Arrangements are well under way for the celebration on the 22d of February, next. At the meeting held on Tuesday evening, January 17, 1899, a permanent organization was effected. Gov. Gosper was elected chairman; Capt. W. J. Haverly as secretary. The following committees were appointed: On Programme and Entertainment, Col. Crane, Capt. Hyatt, Gen. Johnstone Jones. Col. Allen and Capt. Shaefer: Executive and Financial Committee. Col. C. T. Derly, Capt. S. R. Thorpe, F. Stein. Dr. W. C. Harrison, J. Lee Burton; Committee on Decoration. Col. Glaze, Maj. George N. Nolan, J. Lee Burton and Comrade Lestin. W. A. Hartwell reëlected treasurer.

Lestin. W. A. Hartwell reelected treasurer.
W. S. Daubenspeck, who acted last year as commissary-general, was reappointed, without instructions, except to the boys, and if he should do so, he was not to go to Gen. Eagan or the Secretary of War to find cuss words to say against his superior officer.
The next meeting will be held at room No. 224, Stimson Block, on Tuesday, January 24, 1899, at 7:30 o'clock. All ex-Union and Confederate soldiers and sailors are invited to help by their presence and advice.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

OFFICE OF THE TIMES. Los Angeles, Jan. 9, 1999. STOCK SPECULATION. The suc made by some in speculative dealin the stocks of these and other ndustrial" corporations, have resulted numerous imitations of these great organizations. Not the least prominent feature of floating the schemes is the putting of their stock on the market for the general public to invest in. Last car was particularly fertile in the cating or these schemes. And the ublic has bought no end of their ablic has bought no end of their ocks, speculating for a rise. In many uses these stocks are now playing seem at a giddy attitude at least 15 to per cent. above the point at which be were first floated. Those who are diding them may look a long time for good a place to let go as is offered the present time.

BANK CONSOLIDATION. It has come to be a generally-accepted proposition that there are too many banks in the country as a rule. There are few cities which furnish an exception to the rule. It is at last coming to be recognized that this is so, and a great many cities are the scenes of consolidation among its banks. The benefits accrue not alone to the stockholders, but to the depositors, and also to the but to the depositors, and also to the man who wants money. The lessening of expenses helps the stockholders. The more ample security of one strong bank as compared with half a dozen week ones is a good thing for the depositor. And the larger concentration of capital renders it easier for the borrower to receive accommodation. COMMERCIAL.

"Yesterday was too cold to permit free shipments of tender fruits safely, and buyers were not numerous in the jobbing districts. There was active bidding at the sales of lemons and California oranges, showing that the market is canable of taking care of all present offerings. The general tone is firm, even though prices rule low and conditions are promising.

"At yesterday's sale of the cargo of the Victoria prices on lemons averaged about steady, though some lots declined slightly, and some sold up a few cents on a box. So far as quality is concerned lemons are the best now they ever were, but demand is curtailed by the weather, and prices rule low, but steady.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The stock market was strong and active all day, except for a realizing movement around delivery hour, when prices receded about a point in many stocks, but toward the close picked up sharply and the closing was strong, with material net gains in all the leading shares. The volume of business was above the milion-share mark, and London, after being a seller for a long time, reversed her position and purchased about thirty-five thousand shares. Following the example of the Imperial Bank of Germany, the Bank of England reduced its rate of discount. A continuance of easy money conditions here was snares. Following the example of the Imperial Bank of Germany, the Bank of England reduced its rate of discount. A continuance of easy money conditions here was another factor in the confidence shown today. The Grangers made new high record prices for the current movement, and the average price of active shares was about the highest. The strong London tone encouraged a high opening here, and as there was a large accumulation of buying orders over night, the short interests were compelled to retreat in many stocks. There was beavy realizing at the advance, but the stocks sold were we'l taken and the market broadened out. The greatest activity and strength was shown by Manhattan, Burlington, St. Paul, Sugar, Atchison preferred, Reading first preferred and Northern and Union Pacifics. The advance in Surgar was credited to a rounding up of the shorts. The advance in Burlington seemed to be accepted as meaning that something was under consideration in regard to a refunding scheme, although negotiations under way were, said to apply to the issue of only a small amount of bonds. The interests concerned were non-committal, and there was no definite development one way or the other. There was an advance in most of the Gould properties, some of which have been lnactive of late, Manhattan rising 4% and Missourl Pacific 2 points. Among the investment stocks, New York Central rose 1½. The bond market showed relatively more activity than the stock speculation. Marked advances were scored all around; with the undertone aggressively strongs. United States 5s registered advanced ½ in the bid price.

London Financial Market.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The Commercial Advertiser's London financial cablegram says:

"The markets here were more active and strong today on the reduction by the bank of its discount rate to 3½ per cent., though a rate of 3 per cent. was generally expected. In some quarters it is thought that the bank fears gold withdrawais, as £163,000 were taken for the United States today, against £170,000 bought. Americans were strong at every point and there was a strong support. New York came strong, and the close was buoyant at the top. The favorites were Northern Pacific and Central Pacific. The Rothschilds are said to be buying the latter. There is a flat denial of the report that the Central Pacific scheme is ready, and it is now stated that it is even unsettled how far the government will give way on the debt question." SANTA FE REDUCED RATES. Street-car Line for Brooklyn Ave-

The Santa Fé has decided to reduce The Santa Fé has decided to reduce its passenger rates between San Bernardino and Barstow and all along the Santa Fé-Pacific between Mojave and Albuquerque. The reduction between San Bernardino and Barstow will be 16 2-3 per cent., and between Mojave and Needles 33 1-3 per cent., and between Needles and Albuquerque [6 2-3 per cent.]

in a between Needles and Albuquerque la 2-3 per cent. These reductions are made voluntarily in the hope and expectation that the travel in the territory named will be increased to such an extent that the gross receipts will be increased rather than decreased by the rate reduction. The tickets sold at these reduced rates will be good only for continuous passage and do not acinit of stop-over, but insmuch as they apply between all stations a person can stop over and buy a new ticket without loss.

The Los Angeles Railroad Company has got the Mateo-street improvement pretty well along, and has made such good progress with taking out the old cable slots that attention is being turned to other improvements. The most important one to take definite shape is the rehabilitation of the old Arcade and Aliso street line. It is many a month since the mule team ceased to start from the northern corner of the Baker Block and glide down Arcadia street to Aliso and along that street to the junction of Pleasant avenue and First street, where connection was made with the First-street ine. All plans have been perfected to lay a trolley line on Arcadia street where it joins Main at the Baker Block and follow the old line near the Aliso-street bridge. At Pleasant avenue the line will diverge from the old route, and, turning at Bridge street, will cross the old bridge over the Arroyo de Los Posos to Brooklyn avenue, which it will follow to Evergreen Cemetery. This work will be begun in a short time, and will be completed rapidly.

An important meeting was held in the office of Edward Chambers, general freight agent of the Santa Fé in the Bullard Block yesterday afternoon. It embraced the freight traffic men of all the roads, and representatives of all the large lumber firms in the city. W B Hillam A Harris and Rache A number of fine horses in various parts of the city have been killed durparts of the city have been killed during the past two weeks by being allowed to feed on old, half dead grass in the yards of their owners. City Milk Inspector George Hooser stated yesterday that he knew of no less than six cases in which valuable animals had died within an hour after feeding on such grass. His own horse broke from the stable and fed for ten minutes on the grass in the yard, and the services of a veterinary surgeon were required for eight hours to save the animal. One milkman lost three horses, all he had, and several owners of private vehicles have suffered a similar loss.

ANOTHER POSSIBILITY OF THE TERMINAL'S GETTING IN.

stead of a Franchise-Friends of the Terminal Keeping Up the Fight-Two Tramps Take Possession of the Raymond Grounds, PASADENA, Jan. 19 .- [Regular Correspondence.] "There is another shot in the locker," say the friends of the Terminal Rallroad, and it is evident that the fight to enable that company to operate an electric line between this city and Los Angeles is not yet ended, although the enemy captured the Terminal's works with a dash at last Tuceday's ecsion of the City Council.

company to operate an electric line between this city and Los Angeles is not yet ended, although the enemy captured the Terminal's works with a dash at last Tuesday's session of the City Council.

On Saturday the City Council will have a special session, at which they will prepare to advertise the delinquent taxpayers, and will discuss the new phases of the historical Terminal franchise proposition. Two courses are open to the Council—to award the franchise for the loop to one of the two bidders, or to reject both bids. If the franchise should be granted to the oatensibly highest bidder, it would go to Judge Rossiter, and the opposition to the Terminal would be happy. Should both bids be rejected, the objects of the opposition would have been attained just as well, and joy would perch on their tent-pegs. Is the bid of Judge Rossiter (100 per cent. of the proceeds of the proposed loop) in reality highest than that of the Terminal (75 per cent.?) One of the active friends of the Terminal seriously raised this question today. He argued that the city would actually get more from the Terminal's bid. "The Terminal," said he. "would be obliged to carry all its passengers over the loop and to pay the city 75 per cent. of the proportionate fares of every one of them. Any other line would haul only a very small part of its traffic over the loop, and the 100 per cent. would amount to little. The Terminal could not do business without the loop, which would be an insignificant fraction of any other road. I claim that 75 per cent. on the loop proportion of all the fares between this city and Los Angeles, would count up a great doal faster than 100 per cent. on chance fares."

A member of the City Council said tonight that the franchise bids might be figured out in that way, but the probability is that both bids will be rejected. This gentleman only claimed to speak for himself, but he emphatically expressed the opinion that the 100 per cent. bid is merely a tactical offer, designed to checkmate the Terminal will electrize it

The Marshal went down and found that two men who looked like tramps, though they denied the impeachment, had taken possession of the site of the Hotel Raymond, sleeping in the deserted pavillon, feasting on oranges from the Raymond trees, and whiling away the time among the rose gardens. One of them gave the name of A. M. Davidson, and claimed to be a former New York lawyer. He is an intelligent fellow, a good talker, plainly "has seen better days," and shows the traces of long dissipation. His mate, Richard Weirs, is a stout young loafer, strong enough for a 'longshoreman. They were locked up and searched, not a cent of money being found on either of them. Probably they will be arraigned on a vagrancy charge. Robert Kelley, accused of stealing a watch, razor and some clothing from a Chinaman, had his hearing this morning and pleaded guilty. RIVERSIDE COUNTY. Mexicans Arrested at Indio

Murder.

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 19.— [Regular Correspondence.] Sheriff Coburn left for Indio this morning, in response to a telegram from Constable Westerfield, stating that he had arrested two Mexicans, who are suspected of the murder of the man who was found horribly mutilated a few days ago, near Arlington. It was at first supposed that the man was killed by the cars, but Sheriff Coburn received evidence that there was foul play in connection with the death. Suspicion pointed to three Mexicans, named José, Heginio and Velen. The prisoners will be brought here tonight.

The Mexicans give their names as José Quinones and B. Vasquez. They are residents of Colton and declare their innocence, stating that the dead man was shot by a brakeman on the freight train of that night. The third man is said to be located, and it is thought that he will soon be behind the bars. RIVERSIDE BREVITIES.

Female Vagrants Guilty and Receive Floaters Public Feeling Running High Against This Class—Superior

Mary Edwards appeared before Justice Argabrite this morning on a charge of vagrancy.
She was found guilty, and will receive sentence this afternoon at 5 o'clock. It is the intention of the officers to force the change of location of the houses of ill fame to another part of town. Now that Main street is rid of the women, it is probable that it will remain so for some time. At present public feeling, especially among the numerous residents in that section of the city, is running high against the keeping of these houses of ill-fame in that neighborhood. In fact, the officers' actions were demanded by the neighboring residents. About a week ago all the male characters about town, numbering seven or eight, who were without visible means of support, were given floaters.
Most of these took refuge in Santa Barbara.
More arrests of alleged lewd women will probably occur today. It is also probable that action will be taken against propertyowners in case they rerent to this class.

CONSUL-GENERAL OMMERCIAL AFFAIRS.

China-Mexican Line Needed-Ex-Senator Withington Fined for Contempt-Notables at Coronado Arrival of the Philadelphia.

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 19.—[Regular Correspondence.] Hon. Ho Yow, Consul-General of China to the United States, arrived last evening from San Francisco, accompanied by Fresident A. H. Butler of the New California and dent A. H. Butler of the New California and Oriental Steamship Company. They are staying at Hotel del Coronado, and will remain until the arrival of the steamer Belgian Kins, now due from Hongkong and Yokohama.

Mr. Ho is a highly educated and intelligent Chinese, who shares with an official of similar powers in New York all the consular work in this country. There are no Chinese vice-consuls, thus throwing all the work upon the consul-generals. He is here especially with reference to the development of trade in this section, and to look into the interests of his countrymen. This refers more especially to the investigation of a new route of travel to and from Mexico and China via San Diego.

"The inauguration of this new steamship line will have a very great influence," said Mr. Ho to the Times correspondent. "The travel and commerce between Mexico and China has been very large, but what it would be had there been fewer estrictions on travel. The nevel and business. Chinese are addited relaying Mexico, contrary to the condition of the contrary to the second of the contrary to the best interests of either country. There are also Japanese colonies in Mexico, which desire more direct communication with the parent country.

"I have come here to look into these matters, with a view to encouraging the establishment of a new means of communication between China and Mexico, and to assist by every means in my power the development of commerce between San Diego and Hongkong and Shanghal. I have no private interest about the new line that will be of great value to my countrymen. While here. I wish, if possible, to have all matters concerning the entry of Chinese merchanis and students cleared thoroughly, so that there will be no vexatious detentions and consequent hindrance to business. Of course, I will respect in every way the existing laws of this country relative to the exclusion of laborers of my race. We hope to secure the ratification of a new treaty on this point which will relieve the embergo on certain classes o them. They therefore assure us equal treatment with the northern lines, which is all we ask.

"As Mr. Ho has just said, we are all anxious to get a direct communication with Mexico connecting with our steamers. This is bound to come, and soon, though I will not enter into details, as the business is now pending, I can only say that a line along the Mexican coast is a necessity for bandline the Japanese and Chinese business that will be developed by this new transpacific line. I had applications on this first steamer from passengers bound for Mazatlan, and if we had had communication with that port I should have booked them. As it was, we had to turn that business away. This, of course, connot be permitted. Another thing, either that trinspacific eteamers or the Mexican lire will have to call at San Francisco. This cannot be avoided, if we are to secure our share of the big business of that port. That, hwever, is a matter to be settled as a telline becomes astblished. Finally, I will say to you that not only is the new line established. Finally, I will say to you that not only is the new line established. Finally, I will say to you that one only is the new line established. Finally, I will say to you that one only is the new line established as a permanency, but it will get the business that will make it profitable. SIGNIFICANT NOTICE TO THE

Parent Who Declares That Force Will Be Required to Keep His Unvaccinated Children from School-Vaccination Methods At

That there would be a contest in the courts over the recent order of the Board of Education for a compulsory vaccination of all school children has been expected ever since the order was ssued, but the members of the board have been relying upon the argument that the law having been declared constitutional and their attention having been officially called to the law by the Board of Health, they are only performing their sworn duty in enforcing that law, and that they have no choice n the matter. Some of the members of the board have expressed the opinion that their position on the question is impregnable, and they have nothing is impregnable, and they have nothing to fear from any action that may be instituted in the courts. It is now probable that, not their action in enforcing the law, but the manner of its enforcement, will be made the subject of some such contest, for one parent served notice on the board yesterday of his objection to the manner pursued in securing the vaccination of the school children. Although in the notice there is no open statement of the intention of this parent, the wording of his letter is sufficient to indicate that he will contest the matter. The letter is from T. H. Duzan, whose home is at No. 1550½ West Seventh street. It is addressed "To the Mhonorable Board of Education and the Superintendent of Schools," and is as follows:

"Welter Le Duzan is a numli attendorable Board of Education and the Superintendent of Schools," and is as follows:

"Walter L. Duzan is a pupil attending the public school of this city, being in grade A, 5, Valencia-street school, Miss Louise Curtin, teacher. Donna Duzan is a pupil in the kindergarten department of same school. These children are my son and grand-daughter, respectively, and neither of them have been vaccinated, and I am opposed to having it done.

"While I have no desire to be unreasonable, or unnecessarily oppose your instructions in the matter, I am of the opinion that there are several discrepancies in the manner pursued by the Board of Health and your honorable body, to have the State law complied with, and therefore your instructions illegal and not in conformity with the law as it stands on the statute books.

"I protest against these children being expelled from the public schools (for which I am taxed to help support.) for non-compliance with your instructions in regard to vaccination. I shall continue to send these children to school as they have been going, and if they are put out of school, it will have to be by force, and I respectfully request that you take such action and give your subordinates such instructions as will prevent the forcible ejectment of these children from the public school of this city, where they are entitled to attend. "Be sure you are right, then go ahead," is a motto it may be well for you to consider.

[Signed] "T. H. DUZAN," "No. 1550/2 West Seventh street."

CZAR'S ACTION INDORSED. Resolutions Adopted by New York

Bar Association. IA. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.1 ALBANY (N. Y.,) Jan. 19 .- The State Bar Association at its meeting indorsed the action taken by the Czar, Nicholas, in convening an international peace congress by the adoption of a resoluoffered by William Barnes of Albany. This is the text of the resolution: "Resolved, that the recent action of the Czar Nicholas of Russia in convening an international congress to armies and navies of the world, and the amelioration of the most flagrant cruel-ties of war, and the substitution so far as practicable of arbitration for war, ties of war, and the substitution so far as practicable of arbitration for war, is warmly approved and commended by the New York State Bar Association, and that as an evidence of our friendly relations with Russia and in support of the proposed congress, we hereby recommend to the President as American delegates ex-Presidents Harrison and Grover Cleveland, and ex-Vice-President Levi P. Morton, and that a certified copy of the resolution be sent to the Czar."

Charles A. Gardiner of New York city made an address on the subject of the government's right to acquire and hold foreign territory, and said, in conclusion: "During the last year the American people have resolved upon a most momentous policy—to expand their continental bonds, acquire foreign territory, and take their place among nations as a dominant world power. Expansion is no longer a theory, but a fact. To the press of this country, more-than to any other aggregate intellectual force, must be ascribed the development of this national policy and for services thus rendered no tribute of praise cam be unmerited. The pending treaty will soon be ratified and in practically its present form. As Senator Gray tersely remarked: 'It will merely put us in control of the situation.' Then will confront Congress the gravest problems of the century." vill confront Congress the problems of the century."
